FORTY-SEVENTH YEAR LINCOLN, NEB., THURSDAY, JUNE 23, 1949 FIVE CENTS

A Full Denial Made By Hiss

Tells Perjury Trial Jury He Never Was A Communist And Did Not Give Secret Papers To Chambers; Denies Ever Red Sympathizer

NEW YORK—(AP)—Alger Hiss denied at his perjury trial in Federal court today that he ever was a communist or had given secret state department papers to Whittaker Chambers.

The former state department official was indicted on two perjury counts after he denied before a federal grand jury that he fed Chambers with government secrets to be passed on to spies or that he ever saw Chambers after Jan. 1, 1937.

Hiss also denied after taking the witness stand in his own behalf that he ever had been a communist fellow traveler or sympathizer.

When Defense Counsel Lloyd Paul Stryker asked him, "In February or March, 1938, or any other time in your life did you ever furnish, transmit or deliver (four government exhibits) to Whittaker Chambers?" Hiss replied:

"I did not."

The defense has conceded that Hiss wrote the papers.

Stryker, directing Hiss' attention to a batch of typewritten documents, asked:

"Did you ever furnish, transmit or deliver them to Whittaker Chambers?"

A—"I did not, Mr. Stryker."

Writer Malcolm Cowley testified today that Whittaker Chambers had told him former Assistant Secretary of State Francis B. Sayre was "head of the communist apparatus in the department of state."

Cowley, a Sherman, Conn., resident, appeared as a surprise defense witness.

The statement was immediately repudiated by defense Attorney Lloyd Paul Strayker who said "Mr. Sayre was a completely loyal member of the government at all times."

Stryker explained in agreement with a comment by Judge Samuel H. Kaufman, that the writer's testimony was offered only to show that Chambers made inconsistent statements.

The testimony was sent in to Sayre, who was attending a session of the United Nations trusteeship council, of which he is U. S. delegate, at Lake Suffess.

He read it, came out smiling, then turned serious and told newsmen:

"I give an absolute and unqualified denial. It's too preposterous to merit any reply of any kind."

Cowley, a contributing editor to the New Republic, said Chambers made the remark to him about Sayre on Dec. 13, 1940.

Earlier today a former handyman for Hiss testified that the FBI had offered him $200 for an old typewriter which the defense produced yesterday.

—Labor Injunction—

Senate Vote To Be Close

Seizure Of Plants And National Emergency Amendments Rejected

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Both its friends and foes today predicted a close senate vote on whether to keep the Taft-Hartley law's injunction provision against critical strikes.

Backers of any injunction won a pair of preliminary victories late yesterday when the senate soundly defeated two other plans for dealing with strikes which threaten the national welfare.

But the senators in that pro-injunction group said they are keeping their fingers crossed. And those opposed to the injunction method declared they still are in the running.

Margin Is Narrow.

Senate Democratic Leader Lucas (Ill), one of those against the Taft-Hartley provision, put it this way:

"The vote is going to be very close, and I think we have a chance to beat the injunction."

On the other side, Sen. George (D-Ga) said:

"I think those of us who want to retain the injunction have a slight edge, but the vote is going to be very, very close."

In yesterday's balloting, the senate first rejected, 55 to 27, the Douglas-Aiken plan for handling national emergency labor disputes. It calls for authorizing government seizure of struck plants for up to 90 days.

Due For A Second Vote.

Because of a peculiar parliamentary situation, that plan was due for a second vote, perhaps today. Its backers expected it to pick up quite a few votes on the second round, with the issue narrowed to a choice between seizure and the injunction.

After batting down the first round amendment offered by Sens. Douglas (D-Ill) and Aiken (R-Vt), the senate next swamped a national emergency plan sponsored by Sen. Ives (R-NY). The vote was 67 to 13.

Under the Ives amendment, congress would have been required to deal separately with each critical strike.

Rejection of the two amendments was not an undiluted triumph for those who favor the Taft-Hartley injunction.

Mrs. Larson Is Defeated

OMAHA—(AP)—The semi-finals of the Nebraska women's golf championships produced an upset Thursday when Mrs. W. O. Larson, two-time winner, was defeated by another Omahan, Betty Wranic, 3 and 2.

Miss Wranic was two down after 11 holes, but quickly turned the tide with some steady shooting. She won No. 12 with a bogey six, then closed out the defending champion with fourl straight pars.

Diller Farmer Begins Harvesting Wheat

First reports of Nebraska's wheat harvest operations came Thursday from the Alfred Schramm farm near Diller in Jefferson county. Schramm expects his 10-acre field to average 25 bushels per acre.

Detailed story, together with prospects in southeast counties, appears on page 10.

$5,000 Grant N. U. College Of Dentistry

...Cancer Research

The University of Nebraska college of dentistry has received a $5,000 grant from the National Advisory Cancer Council of the U. S. Public Health Service.

Dr. Donald T. Waggener, chairman of the oral pathology department in the dental college, said the grant is part of the U. S. Public Health Service currently being given universities and colleges to support a program of cancer education and research.

The grant to Nebraska will be used for a two fold program, Dr. Waggener said, of teaching and research designed to aid dental students in the diagnosis and care of cancer of the mouth and adjacent areas.

Steeplejack Needs Help Of Firemen

...To Get Down

HAMILTON, O.—(AP)—Henry Wilson, 45-year-old steeplejack, dangled for three hours yesterday at the top of a 100-foot smokestack. Then a fireman succeded in untangling the rope that was holding his boatswain's chair.

Wilson was up there for two hours before he could attract anyone's attention.

Then as firemen arrived, they found the location of the smokestack would not allow them to raise a ladder directly to Wilson. They had to angle the ladder to reach the tangled part of the rope.

Fireman Robert Bickel climbed to the top and it took him another hour to straighten the rope. During part of that time he had to hold part of the rope in his teeth.

Enlargement Of Cotner College Seen

As Christian Church Merges Two Schools

The Christian churches of Nebraska Wednesday authorized a merger of Cotner college in Lincoln and the Nebraska Christian Foundation which functions on the University of Nebraska campus.

The action, combining the two institutions sponsored by the Nebraska Christian churches (Disciples of Christ), was taken at the state convention being held in Omaha. Both carry on students programs.

Dr. P. R. Stevens is president of Cotner college; Rev. Lowell Bryant, pastor of First Christian church in Lincoln and vice president of the convention, has been executive director of the foundation and Mrs. R. M. Benson, director of its student work.

Dr. Stevens says it is anticipated that th academic program of Cotner will now be enlarged, particularly in the field of training lay leadership for Christian churches.

The college since reopening several years ago has been a theological school, teaching only courses in religion. Cotner students take their arts and science courses at University of Nebraska.

There are approximately 350 students on the university campus from Christian churches, Mr. Lowell reports. The program of the Foundation has included fellowship, spiritual and recreational oversight for these students. This program will now be merged in the total program of Cotner, he said.

Another State Worker.

Other action taken by the convention includes authorizing another fulltime state worker, to be in charge of religious work in the state. He has not yet been named. An evangelist and an executive secretary are now employed.

Also authorized was appointment of a commission to study the total state program in its missionary, evangilistic, educational and youth work aspects, to report next year.

Dr. Arnold Banquet Speaker.

The convention, which opened Tuesday, will close Thursday evening. Officers for next year will be elected late Thursday afternoon..

Approximately 150 laymen are expected to attend the banquet at which Dr. Charles Arnold of Lincoln will be the speaker.

Dr. Arnold will discuss "A Layman Afield." His discussion will cover his experiences for two and a half years as a member of the faculty at Union university in West China.

Dr. William McKinney will be the principal speaker at the final convention session. Dr. McKinney is national director of men's work for the Disciples of Christ.

During the Wednesday night recital, winners among the different housing units of All State youths that have been presenting skits in a series of nightly recitals were named. Boys living at the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity house were judged the best performers by Max Whittaker, instructor in the university speech department. He picked the girls living at Terrace Hall second.

Eastern Nebraska Lashed By Tornado, Hailstorm

. . . $30,000 Damage To Auburn Airport

Greenhouses At Omaha Hard Hit; Rains To 4 Inches

. . . Many Power Line Breaks

A tornado, heavy winds, hail and torrential rains descended upon eastern Nebraska Wednesday night, leaving wide-spread damage to property and communication and power lines.

The rains, some of cloudburst proportions, ranged up to four inches in the extreme southeast.

Five airplanes were damaged as a tornado dipped down on a large hanger at the Auburn airport. More than 1.50 inches of rain struck the town of Auburn in 30 minutes in a storm accompanying the twister.

Damage to the buildings and planes was estimated at between $20,000 and $30,000. There were no reports of injuries. The airport is located two and a half miles east of Auburn. Claude Erisman, airport lessee and operator of the Auburn Air Service, owned three of the damaged airplanes. Dr. F. M. Tushla and A. R. Winninghof owned the others.

3.41 Downpour at Plattsmouth

A minor flash flood hit Plattsmouth following a downpour of 3.41 inches late Wednesday afternoon. Water was running "curb deep" in the main street but dropped quickly after the rains subsided. U. S. Highway 75 both north and south of Plattsmouth was covered with water for a time.

Area Manager A. M. Newens of the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph company at Plattsmouth said the deluge fell in 20 minutes. Damage to telephone lines was extensive, he said.

There were 250 Plattsmouth telephones, mostly rural, out of order due to the storm, Newens said. Most of the damage was caused by lightning and by tree limbs dropping onto the lines. South of Plattsmouth a large cottonwood tree toppled onto wires, disrupting service to Lincoln, Nebraska City and Murray. Service was restored Thursday.

Hits Lincoln At 6 P. M.

Meanwhile, the storm, accompanied by wind, some hail and rain, hit Lincoln about 6 p. m. Considerable hail was reported in the vicinity of Fortieth and N streets, stripping trees. Rainfall in that area was near .50 of an inch.

The weather bureau said rainfall in downtown Lincoln measured only .03 of an inch, with .10 at the airport. Both the rain and hail were somewhat spotted over Lancaster county.

At Omaha seven hundred telephone circuits and about 75 power lines were knocked out during a brief hail and rainstorm when one and one-fourth inches of precipitation was recorded within an hour, an International News Service dispatch disclosed.

Large As Golf Balls.

The hailstones, some "as large as golf balls," caused thousands of dollars damage to greenhouses in Omaha.

The downpour overtaxed Omaha's sewer system, the overflow turning streets into rivers. Truck gardeners in the surrounding area reported little damage to the crops, however.

Coming at the ending of the business day, the Omaha storm made lakes of streets and clogged homeward bound lines of traffic.

Hail smashed windows at four large Omaha greenhouses. The operators of Anderson Florist greenhouses in the south part of the city estimated their damage at about $20,000.

August Petersen, of Petersen Brothers, said about 50 per cent of the firm's 8,500 square feet of glass was shattered. Nearly 10,000 square feet of glass was estimated lost at Park Avenue florists.

Two large sections of Omaha were without power for a time because of line breaks. Northwestern Bell Telephone company said

—Mirage Flats—

Irrigation Project Is Dedicated

Program Actually Started By Farmers Back In Early '90s

HAY SPRINGS, Neb.—(AP)—The Mirage Flats irrigation project, first envisioned by 19th century pioneers who decided they had to "irrigate or emigrate," was dedicated Thursday.

A day long program attended by dozens of dignitaries commemorated virtual completion of the Niobrara basin project which irrigates 12,000 acres of farm land.

Senator Hugh Butler (R-Neb), expressing regrets at being unable to attend, wired greetings in which he said residents of the area "have much to be proud of in bringing the first federal irrigation project to the Niobrara valley." It will not, however, be the last irrigation development in the valley, he observed, mentioning a survey and study of Niobrara basin development now under way.

G. W. Lineweaver, bureau of reclamation history."

"Born of the drouth scourge of the 30s, it is insurance . . . against the recurrence of the dry years that are sure to return," he said.

A. E. McClymonds, regional conservator for the soil conservation service in Lincoln, said the dedication marked completion of the first project in which the SCS completed scientific development of the land for irrigation before it was settled.

"When the project was begun, there were only 23 dryland operating units in the whole project area," he recalled. "Today there are 111 irrigated units in the same area, each one calculated to supply an average farm family with a good income."

'Clean-Cut Job.'

Don Barnes, assistant to the chief engineer for the bureau of reclamation at Denver, termed Mirage Flats a "clean-cut" job from an engineering standpoint.

The project actually started in the 1890s when pioneers raised $35,000 and put in 26 miles of ditches with teams and slips. A saw mill was rented and timber was cut to build flumes. A prairie fire and leaking ditches eventually sounded the death knell to the effort.

The present Mirage Flats project was a joint effort of the reclamation bureau and soil conservation service. First dirt was moved in 1941 with WPA labor. Work was discontinued during the war but resumed in 1945.

One million cubic yards of dirt were moved and the first irrigation water reached the project in 1946, when 3,000 acres were irrigated.

House Told Pact, Arms Are 'Musts'

Acheson Underscores Relationship Of Two

WASHINGTON—(AP)— Secretary of State Acheson re-emphasized today—this time to the house—the "utmost importance" of approving the North Atlantic pact and European arms program at this congressional session.

Acheson also urged action by June 30 on a bill to provide $150,000,000 of economic aid for Korea.

The secretary, who spent more than two hours with the house foreign affairs committee, issued a brief statement afterward. He underscored what he had told the senate foreign relations committee yesterday—that action on the treaty and arms program are needed to back up America's policy in Europe.

The house has nothing to do with ratification of the North Atlantic defense alliance. But it will have to approve the arms program.

Texas Erases Rent Control

...Governor Signs Bill

AUSTIN, Tex.—(AP)—A bill abolishing rent controls in Texas was signed into law today by Gov. Beauford H. Jester.

It will become effective 90 days after adjournment of the 51st Texas legislature, plus 15 days for federal processing. When the legislature will adjourn is not certain.

The measure stirred up one of the session's hottest controversies. National Housing Expediter Tighe Woods made a surprise flying visit to Governor Jester to ask that he veto the measure.

Youthful Mother Is Murdered

Iowa Woman Brutally Slain; Body Found In Walk-In Refrigerator

MORRISON, Ia.—(AP)—The nude and mutilated body of a 22-year-old mother was found early today on the floor of a walk-in refrigerator in the tavern she and her husband operated.

Grundy County Sheriff John A. Meyer said the victim, Mrs. Harvey A. Stahlhut, 22, "was slain by a maniac or madman who cut her throat from ear to ear, cut off both her breasts and slit her body right down the center."

Sheriff Meyer said the body was found by the young woman's husband, who had been out of town last evening. Mrs. Stahlhut had operated the tavern last night during the husband's absence.

The Stahlhuts had living quarters adjoining the tavern. Their year-old son was found on the bed unharmed and the day's tavern receipts had not been touched, the sheriff said.

The sheriff said his investigation had "barely been started," but he added there were no immediately apparent suspects in the case. He was awaiting arrival of a state bureau of criminal investigation agent.

Probably Killed Outside.

Sheriff Meyer told this story of the discovery of the body:

"At 5:15 a. m., I was called by Dr. C. H. Bartruff of Reinbeck who had received an emergency call from the husband of the victim.

"The doctor and I went to the tavern they operated in Morrison. We found her body lying in the cooler which was a large walk-in affair.

"Mrs. Stahlhut had apparently been killed outside the refrigerator and carried in there although there is a slight possibility she may have been killed inside the cooler.

"Her body was completely in the nude. Her throat had been cut from ear to ear. Both of her breasts had been cut off. Her body also had been split by another wound right down the center.

"There was blood on the wall of the cooler. There were bloody fingerprints on the outside of the icebox door. There wasn't any noticeable pool of blood inside the tavern, although I found a few things which apparently had been touched by bloody hands.

Husband Returns.

"The woman's husband said he had been working for another tavern man at Dike where they had a celebration yesterday. He said he came home about midnight, walked into his tavern and didn't notice anything wrong.

"The husband said he walked into their living quarters which abjoin the tavern and which can be entered from inside the tavern. He said their baby was lying on the bed and was okay. He said he didn't think much about his wife's absence and assumed she had stepped out to visit some neighbor woman after closing the tavern.

"The husband said he then went to bed. He woke up about 4 a. m. he said and then realized something was wrong. He walked back into the tavern and noticed the handle of the ice box door was not completely down.

"The husband said he then went into the cooler and found his wife's body. He called Dr. Bartruff and the doctor immediately called me."

The sheriff said he had talked to a few persons who had been in the tavern as late as 11 p. m. He said they told him everything was normal and that they saw no suspicious characters. The sheriff said Mrs. Stahlhut apparently had closed the tavern around midnight.

Air Crash Kills 24

Plane Plunges Into Sea Near Bari, Italy

BARI, ITALY—(AP)—At least 24 persons perished today when a Dutch Airlines (KLM) Constellation hurtled 16,000 feet into the sea just off this port.

The bodies of 16 men, five women and three children have been recovered. Americans, Turks, Dutch and Albanians were reported among the victims. There was no official word as to the total number aboard the four-engined craft, bound from Batavia to Amsterdam. So far as can be determined, there were no survivors.

Hundreds of bathers saw the plane plummet into the sea less than 350 yards offshore. Witnesses said it plunged almost straight down for more than 10,000 feet, then leveled off briefly, only to fall tail first into 120 feet of water.

The plane was enroute from Batavia, Java, to Amsterdam.

Good Old Fashioned Thrift To Get Emphasis

IN NEBRASKA PUBLIC SCHOOLS STARTING NEXT FALL

Good old-fashioned American thrift will get a lot more emphasis in Nebraska's public schools starting next fall.

Plans for a program to teach school children the virtue of regular savings plans were completed at a three day conference of 75 Nebraska school administrators which ended Wednesday on the University of Nebraska campus.

The conference was sponsored by the university and the office of the state superintendent of public instruction.

The conference was directed by Floyd A. Miller and LeRoy Ortgiesen of the state superintendent's office. Mr. Ortgiesen said the thrift program will be incorporated in existing courses.

Practical Examples.

For instance, he said, mathematics teachers will include problems in returns from investments, and social studies teachers will describe how investment makes government and private enterprise possible.

In addition, posters and facilities will be provided to enable students to practice thrift by buying government savings stamps or starting savings accounts in local banks.

Nebraska's thrift education plan won the unstinted praise of Dr. Jarvis M. Morse, director of the school savings program of the U. S. treasury department, who was a conference speaker.

Said he: "I was very impressed with the workmanlike manner in which Nebraska educators are approaching the school savings program. Other states could profit by Nebraska's plan of making thrift and investment a part of a teaching program."

15th, N Site Favored For Auditorium; O.K. Public Hearing Plan

Planning Commission's Report Recommends Downtown Site; Next Move Up To Council

The next step on the road to an auditorium for Lincoln is up to the city council.

That was the decision of members of the city council, the planning commission, and the auditorium advisory committee Wednesday afternoon. General procedure to be followed, prior to actual construction, probably will be defined at the council's next meeting.

Public hearings are a good bet for the first phase of the procedure. In fact, discussion as to the need for and importance of such hearings consumed the major part of the meeting.

It was at the insistence of Mayor Clarence Miles that the various groups decided that public hearings are of prime importance. "Sooner or later, and I hope sooner," Miles stated, "we've got to get started on this thing."

"We've got to conduct public hearings and make the people understand. We just can't railroad this thing through," he added.

Need Public Support.

Most of the three groups' members, who generally agree that the Fifteenth street site is where the auditorium should be located, take the pessimistic view that little, if anything of consequence, can come of public hearings.

But too, it is generally agreed that the project must have public support. Along with Mayor Miles was Mrs. Fred Putney, who urged the group to "make the public feel we have taken them into our confidence . . . let them know why we feel this site is best."

It was generally agreed the best way to accomplish this is by public hearings. But it was emphasized that they must be of "an educational nature" and it will be very important to "avoid controversial issues."

T. B. Strain, chairman of the advisory committee, didn't like the idea of public hearings. "If you hold them, you may have to change all the plans and have the whole thing to do over again.

"Those plans are just as good today as when they were drawn up," he added.

But he did say, that if the group decides to go ahead and hold hearings, that they "carry on an intensive newspaper and publicity campaign to acquaint the people with every aspect of the problem."

Planning Assistant Kenneth Clark, who also sounded his doubt as to the need for public hearings, did say that "if the people are presented all the facts, I am sure they will agree with us as to the site and size."

Joe Ginsburg, addressing Councilman Tom Pansing in an intra-group debate, asked. "How do you feel the council has any alternative (as to site)? The bonds are fixed at the present site."

In reply, Pansing said: "I believe the council can call an election on any issue any time it deems it necessary, no matter how recently decided it was.

"I don't want to get this thing started and then be throttled by an initiative petition."

Because the responsibility ultimately rests with the council, the need for eliciting public support eventually won out. It is agreed that an intensive educational campaign is necessary, however.

Questionnaire Results.

A report given the group by Planning Commission Chairman E. J. Faulkner tended to confirm the members in their opinion that Fifteenth street is where the auditorium should be located. The report was the result of a questionnaire sent to 50 cities the size of Lincoln. Replies were received from 27 cities.

The summary of the planning commission's report states. "The evidence as to location is conclusively in favor of the Fifteenth and M street site. Almost without exception cities replying to the questionnaire strongly favor central city location for the following obvious advantages:

1. Proximity to hotels and eating places.
2. Availability of public transportation.
3. Probability of integrating the auditorium into a civic center.

1,752 Parking Spaces.

As to parking, the report has this to say: "In Lincoln's case the availability of on and off-street parking within three blocks of the auditorium site is better than the average city. Consideration of a proposed civic center development including off-street parking along the Fifteenth street axis from the capitol to the university is recommended to the council."

Faulkner estimated the maximum parking demand at one time at 2,000 cars. The report shows that five of the 11 cities reporting provide no off-street parking, with the other six providing from 50 to 500 spaces.

Faulkner's survey says there can be 1,752 parking spaces within two blocks in each direction from Fifteenth and M.

Tom Pansing took issue with this, however. He said "I don't care how many available spaces your report shows, you just can't find a place to park down there now. What will it be like when the auditorium is built? Figures themselves do not create more parking space."

A new parking garage is to be built at Thirteenth and M with a capacity of 450 cars. Present parking lots, the report stated, can handle an additional 250 cars.

All persons present agreed that parking would be "far inadequate" at the proposed site at Twenty-third and O.

As to the Rogers tract at Thirty-third and O, it was estimated that at least eight square blocks would ave to be used to accommodate the cars that could be taken care of at the downtown site.

Tom Pansing said that people think of "one big playground out there on Thirty-third and O." The fact is, he added, that after allowance was made for 1,000 cars, there would be little ground for development."

To make such parking accommodations for all kinds of weather, it was estimated that the cost would be "terrific." In fact, it would be prohibitive," said John Selleck. Selleck pointed out that "at least three months of the past year" there could have been no parking unless the lots had been paved or oiled.

First-Plymouth Congregational Church

Former Nebraskan Heads National Lutheran Drive

SPRINGFIELD, O.—(AP)—The Rev. L. H. Steinhoff, a former Nebraskan, has been named western states director for the $6,000,000 fund drive the United Lutheran church in America will sponsor in 1950 on behalf of its 24 colleges and seminaries.

Rev. Steinhoff was pastor of Immanuel Lutheran church at Tekamah, Neb., from 1926 to 1931 and field secretary for Midland college from 1931 to 1934. He now is pastor of University Lutheran church at Seattle, Wash.

Goal for Steinhoff's 15-state area will be $365,500. Of this amount, $310,500 is to go to Midland college in Fremont and $30,500 to Central Lutheran Theological seminary in Fremont. Of the remaining $24,500, $15,000 will go to a special aid fund and $9,500 to a proposed Pacific coast seminary.

Central Seminary also is scheduled to receive $100,000 from the special aid fund to be raised by churches throughout the country, and Midland will receive $75,000.

Articles were filed by Tom Kelley's Baseball School, Inc., a non-profit, non-stock firm, naming Tom Kelley resident agent.

East Nebraska Storm

damage to its lines was "not excessive." A plant superintendent said about 700 lines were out.

At Weeping Water, a hard rain of 1.75 inches sent the Weeping Water creek to flood stage. However, the creek was back within its banks today and flooding was only minor.

Elmwood reported a one-inch rain plus some wind. The storm curtailed power service for half an hour.

At Murdock 2.90 inches of rain fell in an hour, accompanied by hail "as large as golf balls," according to L. B. Whitley, Murdock depot agent. For a time, water was running across highway 1, at a spot one mile west of Murdock. The hail damage was not extensive, Whitley said, but was mostly confined to trees.

Four inches of rain fell in an area between Falls City and Salem, inundating Burlington mainline rail tracks from 11 p. m. Wednesday until 7:45 a. m. today. Some water was also over the track between Louisville and Oreapolis, but had dropped early today.

The Burlington reported from one and a half to four inches of rain between Dawson and Rulo. Louisville received 3.50 inches, railroad officials said.

Extensive Washouts.

There were extensive washouts on the Missouri Pacific railroad tracks at Weeping Water, Louisville and Julian.

Service was expected to be resumed late Thursday afternoon on the Missouri Pacific line between Union and Lincoln. Mainline trains are back on schedule after five hour delays late last night and early oday, officials said.

Missouri Pacific wire damage was extensive in the Weeping Water and Louisville area.

At Nehawka, Weeping Water creek was up with water a foot deep over the road into the town.

The Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph company restored its direct line to Plattsmouth today. Calls were being sent through Omaha into Plattsmouth after the storm damaged the Lincoln line. The Lincoln-Kansas City toll line is back in service after a temporary break due to damage south of Falls City.

22-Degree Drop.

A few "kick-outs," temporary power blackouts, were reported in the Lincoln area by the Consumers Public Power district. However, all service was back in order this morning.

High temperature reading in the state Wednesday was 96 at Valentine. The low was 51 at Sidney. Lincoln's high was 94 with a low of 72. The storm here brought a 22-degree drop from the day's high within the space of an hour.

The weather bureau reported .05 of an inch of rain at Norfolk Wednesday.

Jehovah July Meeting Here Is Protested

But Group Continues Plans For Meeting State Fair Grounds

A number of protests have been received by state officials, including the governor, urging that action be taken to prohibit the mid-July assemblage at the state fair grounds of Jehovah's Witnesses from midwestern states.

Protests that have come into the governor's office have been referred to the fair board during the absence of the governor who is in Colorado Springs where he is attending a governors' conference.

R. C. "Pat" Patterson, adjutant of the American Legion, admitted that protests against permitting the meeting on state property had been received. He said, however, that he did not believe Legion officials would take any action, as they do not have a mandate from the organization to step in.

Rental Approved.

"Personally, and not as a Legion official, I want to let them have freedom of assemblage, freedom of religion and freedom of speech as guaranteed in the constitution," Patterson said. "However, when freedom of speech is abused, I think it should be watched and action taken.

"I would bitterly oppose persecution of anyone or any group because of their religious beliefs, even though I do not agree with their philosophies."

Meanwhile, the local Jehovah group said in a statement that "It is a shame that here in Lincoln some uninformed persons should protest the very thing that the world went through two great wars to secure, mainly freedom of worship and freedom of speech.

Not Political.

"Jehovah's Witnesses are not political or commercial but they are legally incorporated as a Christian non-profit organization," the statement continued.

The group's statement pointed out that this year, arrangements have been made for assemblies similar to the one to be held in Lincoln, in a number of states. Pointed out was the fact that state fairgrounds have been used or will be used in the following states: Indiana, Massachusetts, Michigan, California, Alabama, and an armory will be used at Baltimore, Md.

The statement set forth that "Jehovah's witnesses are Christians and they diligently study God's word, the Bible, and firmly believe all that it teaches.

"As practical and practicing Christians they are law abiding, peaceful citizens," the statement continued.

Some of the opponents of holding the meeting at the fair grounds recalled that it was Jehovah's Witnesses who carried an appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court in order to keep their children from reciting the pledge of allegiance to the flag in public schools. The court upheld their contention that it could not be required.

Secretary Ed Schultz of the fair board said that the rental of grounds for use of the group had been approved by the board of managers and that if any action is taken to halt the meetings the board will have to make the decision.

Control Urged As 'Green Bug' Infests Grain

...Of Nebraska, Dakotas

WASHINGTON—(AP)— Senator Young (R-ND) Thursday launched a campaign against the "green bug," which has infested the grain fields and ranges of North and South Dakota and Nebraska.

He told a reporter he is preparing a bill to give the agriculture department authority to co-operate with the state and private land owners in an attack on the pest.

The "green bug" is an aphid, a small sucker-type insect, familiar to gardeners.

Two other insects, Young said, seemed to have kept the aphid pretty well under control until it gained headway in Nebraska a year or so ago, spread into South Dakota, and now is "widespread through the southern half of North Dakota.

The enemy insects are a wasp and lady bugs. They develop more slowly than the aphids and apparently lost control in these areas. They, too, would be affected by any spray used against the aphids, he said.

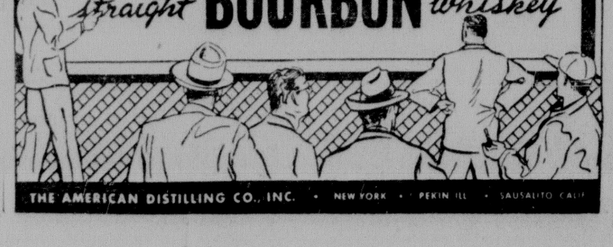

The agriculture department, Young said, isn't ready to recommend or condemn the spraying methods. Its entomologists urged that a research program be developed before any experimental methods of large scale control are tried, and promised to confer with state officials immediately on such a program.

CHURCH SHOULD TRAIN PARENTS, REV. BOND SAYS

"Too many times the church tries to train children along the path they should take without trying to train the parent," Rev. Nye O. Bond of the Union church at Clay Center, declared here Thursday.

Taking Action.

However, Rev. Bond continued, the church is realizing "this opportunity and is beginning to do something about it."

As an example, he said more pre-marital counseling is being done by the church than previously.

Rev. Bond was one of three panel speakers who addressed the four-day institute on the prevention and control of juvenile delinquency on the University of Nebraska campus.

Other speakers were Ben C. Hayenga, general secretary of the Lincoln Family Service association and Henry Angelino, part-time instructor of educational psychology and measurements at the University of Nebraska. District Judge John L. Polk was panel moderator.

"The good home is one in which the child can safely copy the ideals and habit patterns of his parents." Hayenga told the group.

Angelino said that the classroom teacher, who has daily contacts with the child, should be used more as a source of information concerning the behavior of a delinquent child.

School Important.

The school, he said, should be the central agency for any program of prevention and control of juvenile delinquency.

Mrs. Blanche M. Clouse, superintendent of the girls' training school at Geneva, said "my girls" wouldn't be in the school had not society, especially the home, failed them.

Speakers and topics at the closing session of the institute in the afternoon were Ada S. Westover, intake supervisor of the Lincoln Family Agency in prevention and Family Service association, "The Treatment;" Stanley Good, assistant chief of the state child welfare division, "Statewide Child Welfare Services in Nebraska," and Gertrude Allan, state child welfare division consultant, "Parole of Delinquent Children in Nebraska."

Court Order Keeps Lincoln Man From Planted Corn Field

A Lincoln man, who acted as his own counsel, was enjoined Wednesday by a court order from setting foot on 19 acres of farmland on which he had planted corn earlier this spring.

The injunction was issued against R. C. Osmon, who agreed to the order after a temporary injunction had been issued by District Judge Harry R. Ankeny.

Osmon had been named defendant by Harry O. Johnson, who claimed he was the rightful lessee this year of the acreage owned by Robert Hoon.

After the trial had been set for July 13, Osmon told the court he would not fight the action. He said he had invested $30 in seed. The tract is located near Nineteenth and Cornhusker highway.

International Policy Of U.S. Is Endorsed

...By Governors

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo.—(AP) — The nation's governors ended their 41st annual conference yesterday with passage of a series of resolutions, one of which gives a general endorsement to the administration's foreign policies.

The endorsement included support of the United Nations, the European recovery program and the North Atlantic pact.

The governors ignored a special committee which met with congress members last year and urged a 20 per cent cut in federal aid grants in return for the government's vacating some tax fields.

Indiana's democratic Gov. Henry F. Schricker, who headed the resolutions committee, said the governors just weren't "in the position where they can turn down federal aid."

Instead, the conference reaffirmed a resolution it adopted in 1944 calling for "all levels of government" to "participate financially" in unemployment, relief and other matters.

Nebraska Should Broaden Its Tax Base Says Wiltse

WAYNE, Neb. — (AP) — Earl Wiltse, Grand Island school superintendent, said Wednesday Nebraska should broaden its tax base to include sales and income taxes.

Real estate is not the only way to determine the ability to pay taxes and share in the state's responsibilities, he said.

Wiltse spoke at an all-college convocation at Wayne State Teachers college as part of a PTA institute.

He said Nebraska is the only state to cling to the "obsolete" real property tax to help finance education.

Half of the persons who should attend college in Nebraska even today do not do so because they can't afford it, he declared. A surge in enrollment due to increased birth rate since the war will force expansion of school facilities and budgets by one-fourth by 1960. This means additional school money must be available.

STAR WANT ADS BRING RESULTS

Only the Brave

BY PAUL EVAN LEHMAN

Chapter 22

Noon came. At one side of the trail between Cougar and Briscoe stood the wagon. Behind it, out of the traces but still wearing their harness, the two horses munched oats from a box on the lower tailgate. A little distance away a fire burned in a horseshoe of flat stones, and on the fire was a steaming coffee pot. Beside the fire stood an iron kettle containing beans and bacon.

Jeff went to the basket and distributed plates and cups and knives. Forks were luxuries which had been deliberately left behind.

"Help yourselves to the beans, boys," he invited. "Jake, how about carving the bread for us."

His four companions helped themselves to the beans and bread and squatted on the ground, their plates on their laps. Their rifles were within reach, and their six-guns were belted about them.

"Shore is good bread," said Wilks. "Jake, that women of yores knows how to cook, and that ain't no mistake. Ain't got a sister, has she, that's heart-whole and fancy free?"

"She has," answered Jake. "Name's Matildy.. Six feet high and can throw a yearlin' steer with one hand."

Wilks shook his head. "Sounds right masculine to me. She'd never be able to bake bread like this. Rustle the coffee, Jeff; it shore smells good."

They ate with the gusto of healthy men, shoving the beans and bacon with their knives and Washing it down with the hot coffee. "You shore know how to make java," Dean complimented Jeff "How about another shot?"

Again the coffee made the rounds; then Jeff went to the water keg on the wagon, refilled the pot , and from the bag in the basket threw in a couple handfuls of coffee. They talked casually while they ate, about Slug Benjamin's escape, about the murders of Sam Tolson and John Stover, and finally about the attempt to rob Hank Wolfanger. At their prompting Jeff gave them a first-hand account of the latter affair.

He sat erect and vigilant as he talked, his eyes flitting about the horizon. This was his responsibility and he was taking no chances. They finished the dried-apple pie and voted it the best they had eaten, and by the time the pies had vanished the coffee was boiling again.

"One more cup," said Wilks, "and then we'd better be hoppin' along."

Jeff refilled the cups and set the pot beside the fire. He sat down on the ground and sipped thoughtfully. Conversation lagged.

"Ho, hum!" yawned Wilks, and stretched out on his back.

Jeff was watching the trail. Suppose, he was thinking, a rider came over that distant ridge. It was to far for recognition. He knew just what he would do. His horse stood close beside him; he'd warn the boys, mount up and ride to intercept the stranger.

He yawned and blinked his Eyes. Never thought he'd feel sleepy on a job like this. Must be the hot coffee and the heat from the fire.

Suppose a bunch of them bobbed suddenly into sight. The boys would make for the wagon while he rode out to meet them. Couldn't afford to take chances. Jeb King was depending—depending—What was he trying to say? Jeb King was—was—

His body jerked like that of a man awakening suddenly. He must have closed his eyes, for his vision was blurred. What was wrong with him? Hot coffee—heat—from fire—

He looked dully about him. Wilks was snoring; Deem had sagged to an elbow, his head hanging; Wheeler was on his side, an arm doubled under his cheek. Only Todd Stone was sitting erect, and he was staring at Jeff, his eyes blank like those of a blind man.

A wave of alarm swept over Jeff. He tried to get up, but his legs were numb beneath him. He wanted to say sharply, "Boys! What's wrong with you? Wake up!" His lips framed the words but the sound which came from them was thick and meaningless. With a groan he rolled to his side and managed to get his knees and hands beneath him.

He heaved to his feet and stood swaying, his back to them. The water keg; douse his head with water—that would wake him up. He turned slowly, staggering, and took a feeble step toward the wagon. Then he was down on all fours again, the cool earth seeming to beckon to him. Sleep! How he wanted to sleep! Just for a minute or two. Slowly his legs straightened, moved weakly and were still.

"Jeff! Jeff!"

The words reached his consciousness as though coming from a great distance.

"Jeff! For Pete's sake wake up! Jeff, damn you, what's wrong with you? Wake up, I tell you!"

He felt himself shaken, felt the slap of a hand against his cheek. His head rolled to the impact but he felt no pain. He groaned.

"Jeff! Snap out of it! Where's the wagon? Where's the gold?"

Gold! The word was like a bucket of ice water in his face. He forced his lids apart, tried to focus his gaze on the man who was shaking him. Everything was blurred, but through the haze he recognized Glenn.

"Wh—wh—?" he said thickly.

"The wagon—the gold —where is it?"

Jeff staggered to his feet, Glenn supporting him. His vision cleared a bit and he looked about him. Wilks was still snoring, Dean was on his face, Wheeler still lay on his side. Todd Stone's body had sagged at the waist and he was sleeping with his head in his lap. Just a few seconds—

Seconds! Jeff glanced at the sun; it was close to the western horizon. They had slept the afternoon away! Suddenly wide awake, he sent his gaze toward the place where the wagon had been. Then he swore a wild, bitter, understanding oath. The wagon with its precious cargo was gone!

No Part Of It

Both Chancellor Gustavson and the president of the alumni association of the University of Nebraska, W. L. "Bill" Day, have issued common sense statements, bearing upon talk of a proposed referendum to suspend legislative action authorizing the teachers college to issue liberal arts degrees.

In unmistakable Chancellor Gustavson merely reaffirms what was a matter of common knowledge, namely that the University of Nebraska was taking no position either for or against the granting of liberal arts degrees by the teachers colleges. To add emphasis, Dr. Gustavson points out that at no time did a representative of the university appear either to favor or to oppose LB 294.

Equally frank and convincing was the statement of the head of the alumni association. The organization, Mr. Day said, did not discuss nor authorize any move to invoke a referendum.

This should end current discussion.

A Cloistered Court

For the first time in American history two justices of the United States Supreme court appeared as witnesses to testify in defense of Alger Hiss. The decision of Mr. Justice Stanley Reed and Mr. Justice Felix Frankfurter to accept summons, and it is not clear they had any other choice, may enrich American legal history, although we know of no reason why a member of the United States Supreme court should plead immunity from service expected of any other American citizen. They were testifying as individuals out of a close, intimate knowledge of the character of the accused. If their appearance should serve once again to emphasize underlying American hysteria; each, in an individual capacity entirely apart from the responsibilities that rest upon the shoulders of a member of the United States supreme court, has performed a notable service. There is something heartening in this demonstration of the working of democracy.

All Is Not Gold

A few months ago the people of Kearney, with good reason, were protesting against the action of military authorities in Washington in closing out the Kearney air base. Kearney citizens had gone to some lengths financially to provide adequate housing and other facilities in the expectation that the base there was a permanent installation. Not far distant, Clay county citizens were protesting the loss of tax revenues resulting from the removal from the county tax rolls of a large amount of land embraced in the permanent naval depot near Hastings. Now the same cry comes out from New Mexico where Uncle Sam owns 4,600,000 acres of land for military purposes. Former United States Senator Carl Hatch, now a federal judge, said that if carried to the extreme government acquisition of New Mexico lands could imperil or even destroy the sovereignty of the state. The whole episode suggests the cross purposes which frequently beset communities or regions. They want the cream that comes from permanent military installations—the payrolls and the improvements running into millions of dollars. But they do not welcome the loss of tax revenues. The answer of course is that the bitter goes along with the sweet.

Strong And Slippery

A reader in Kansas mails the editor a copy of a speech made by Rep. Gene O'Sullivan of Omaha, of the Second Nebraska district, supporting O'Sullivan's demand that congress embark upon a probe of American "rightists." Mr. O'Sullivan revealed a picturesque vocabulary in paying his respects to the conservative American press in this language:

"In this day and age, in the great and glorious United States of America, almost every one of us has his own idea as to what it takes to be labeled as an 'un-American.' Big business with its credo of free and unbridled capitalism, and its great hordes of kept men and women, kept newspapers, kept periodicals, kept pamphlets, and other kept sheets, with the jarring voices of overgrown and over-glutted scavenger birds raving that every progressive, humanitarian and constructive measure is 'socialistic,' 'communistic,' 'paternalistic' or static and hence un-American. They claim that they are the oracles that are privileged to blither and rasp the truly American doctrine. They proclaim now and have proclaimed throughout the years that liberals are 'left-wingers.'... I venture to say right now that if the government of the United States of America is ever overthrown it will not be by the weak and crude extreme left-wingers, but will be by the strong and slippery extreme right-wingers."

There is too much truth in Mr. O'Sullivan's conclusion of the real danger that confronts this country for comfort. On the opening day of the week a great American newspaper published in a metropolitan center set forth an impressive array of reasons why the United States could not experience a depression today similar to the one that struck in the late '20s. It was a magnificent piece of work, the truth and nothing but the truth, convincing and even so timely in view of the bleakness with which a portion of American leadership persists in talking. But the surprising thing is that in the two-column article printed on the front page of that newspaper the reasons given why no depression similar to the '20s can strike us now embrace virtually all of the reform steps taken under the New Deal and the late FDR, which that newspaper has panned unmercifully. It could take heart in reviewing the New Deal reforms and their results but it could not in the same type admit the source of America's present economic strength. It must think the majority of its readers are boobs.

There has been a most encouraging development in recent days in all the great metropolitan newspapers. If ever a group of men have taken a hiding on the editorial pages the members of the house un-American activities committee are eligible for membership. They can say that they did not plan to establish a censorship of school textbooks but that is a lame explanation. Either they were incapable of defining the direction in which they were moving, or within their ranks were men out to set up an attack upon American education that has never been tolerated in American history.

We think there is some merit in Gene O'Sullivan's proposal that the extreme rightist groups be probed.

Filling Local Needs

Dean Roy Green of the University of Nebraska has been contributing a sorely-needed note in the discussion of Nebraska industry in his emphasis upon the importance of factories financed by local capital and catering to the needs of the nearby markets. This has been a busy season for the Beatrice Steel Tank Manufacturing company. It has been producing at about 90 per cent of capacity, two shifts a day, turning out all of the steel grain bins for which materials can be procured.

MIRAGE FLATS NOTES

Less than 30 miles from the spot where Old Jules demonstrated to his own deep satisfaction that choice fruit could be grown in the Nebraska sandhills a model irrigation project was dedicated Thursday in circumstances of pomp and ceremony. The bigwigs were all there to take their bows, and to add their blessing. Rep. A. L. Miller of the Fourth Nebraska district flew out from Washington. He had protruded an obstinate jaw when he discovered in 1943 a plan to transfer cut steel essential to the project from the proposed Mirage Flats dam on the Niobrara to a Utah development under construction. He won his fight, and that victory should give him more satisfaction than any other single contribution he has made to congressional discussion.

Old Jules would have loved the Mirage Flats irrigation development. To him the joy of life was in growing things. He had a great passion for soil and water and for the food the two would produce in proper combination. He spent a lifetime in working at it—a burly, turbulent, boisterous lifetime in tinkering and experimenting with soil and water under discouragements which would have stopped the beating of a less stern heart.

Two days ago in this column we suggested that great oaks spring from tiny acorns. They do. There will be one man missing from the Mirage Flats dedication program, the late D. F. Felton, WPA administrator in Nebraska. In that capacity he did the initial work in the Mirage Flats irrigation development. WPA built the original diversion dam on the Niobrara, its workers constructed some of the ditches but when the war came on, and the manpower shortage became acute, its labors were ended. And from that point on this miniature model of conservation was carried forward by the agencies which completed it. It reflects a type of socialism. The government bought up 11,600 acres embraced in 23 struggling dry-land farms, built the dam across the Niobrara to store water for slaking the thirst of thirsty acres, later re-sold the land as 120 irrigated farms, with veterans receiving the first preference.

The last 15 farms brought under irrigation as a result of the Mirage Flats project are to be sold shortly with veterans again getting preference. The entire undertaking involved a leveling of land so that the fields could be irrigated, the construction of a complex system of irrigation canals involving the moving of a million cubic yards of dirt, and finally the building of a dam on the Niobrara back of which is stored 32,200 acre feet of water, enough to place a foot of water on 32,200 acres of land. Ah, Old Jules would have loved it. He would have thought of the waters of the deep snows of winter, piling themselves up against the dam to bring vitality to dry fields under a blazing July or August sun. He had listened to the song of that clear stream, gaining volume as to sped seaward under the warm rays of a spring sun.

In connection with the Mirage Flats dedication the Bureau of Reclamation submitted some significant figures. It reported to the assembled crowds that crops harvested in 1948 on all the farmlands which have been reclaimed were just a shade under the all-time high in 1947, and in three years had netted crops worth in excess of six billion dollars.

Yes, in all the driving program of conservation of natural resources, the millions poured out by government to tame the rivers and to put their flood and waste waters to useful purposes pay handsome dividends. They are in truth America's future, a continuing strong, fresh land capable of producing the food a hungry world requires to live in peace. How silly we are to give ourselves over to dissension in this vast Missouri basin! What folly is there in the battle between an MVA or a Pick-Sloan plan, or a Brannan plan! If we do the job right the results will speak for themselves. If we fight and criticize we will only delay our own development. No single project in this country projects perfection itself. But surely the figures covering three years of production suggest to the warring factions that they should get together and settle their differences to avoid delay in taking the proper steps to push the clock ahead 50 years in the vast basin of the Missouri river.

OFF THE RECORD

By ED REED

"The hieroglyphics say he was a big business tycoon in 500 B. C."

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

TRADE MARK REGISTERED

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—An important, backstage battle has broken out between two of the nation's highest-ranking generals—Douglas MacArthur and Chief of Staff Omar Bradley.

General Bradley wants to withdraw American forces from all the Pacific except Japan and Hawaii—even out of the Philippines. In case of war, Bradley argues that American forces caught in the Pacific outside Japan or Hawaii would be immediately sacrificed in another Bataan. Therefore, he wants all troops withdrawn to positions we can maintain.

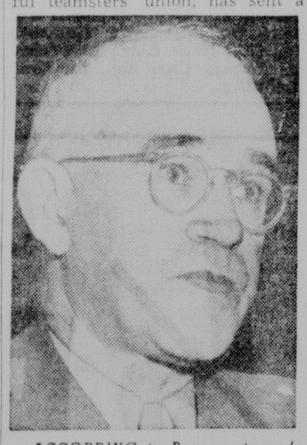

General MacArthur, on the other hand, wants American troops strung out around the Pacific to create spheres of influence to stem the spread of communism. MacArthur is definitely opposed to withdrawing American troops from the Philippines and south Korea.

The tone of his cables has become so strong that mild-mannered General Bradley has been forced to remind him that he, Bradley, not MacArthur, is the chief of staff.

Dan Tobin, head of the powerful teamsters' union, has sent a confidential letter to all teamsters' locals, cautioning them against strikes and urging a conciliatory policy toward employers.

ACCORDING to Pearson two of the nation's highest ranking generals are disagreeing on an important question of Pacific strategy. General MacArthur wants American troops spread out around the Pacific to create spheres of influence against communism, while Gen. Omar Bradley (above) believes that our troops should be withdrawn to safe positions we can maintain in case of war.

Tobin, intimate friend of the late President Roosevelt and a longtime power in the A. F. of L., started his letter by saying that he was fearful of today's economic siutation and cautioned his locals against pushing good employers for wage increases.

Tobin commented at some length on the foolishness of the Ford strike at this time. He recognized that Walter Reuther, head of the United Auto Workers, was under compulsion from union membership, but said that Reuther would have been wiser to have ruled the situation with an iron hand and forbidden the strike.

Referring to his own union, Tobin was critical of the west coast teamsters' strike and also of the teamsters in New York City. In the latter city, bakery drivers had struck for an unwarranted increase, on the assumption that people had to eat bread so there must be bread deliveries. But with the strike many weeks old, consumers get along by buying from chain stores and independent bakeries, Tobin said.

Communist agitation inside labor unions also came in for criticism from the forthright teamsters boss. He said he had received reports of active communist leadership in one teamsters' local—which he declined to name. An investigation was being made, Tobin said, and these agitators would be fired from the union whether they signed non-communist affidavits or not.

Tobin also warned his teamsters that one trouble in union organizations was the inability and unwillingness of rank-and-file members to understand economic laws. He pointed out that while members of his union are unskilled, they receive annual returns higher than bricklayers, plasterers and skilled mechanics because of the fact that the latter suffer seasonal layoffs.

A group of Four-H club youngsters waited on the White House portico to see the president while Representatives Robert Secrest and Earl T. Wagner were inside presenting him with a petition from the Ohio congressional delegation to name George Rogers, an SEC attorney, to the securities and exchange commission.

"I'm going to be photographed with those young people in the rose garden outside," said Truman.

"Don't let us detain you, Mr. President," urged Secrest.

Just then a sudden cloudburst tattooed the windows of the president's office.

"Stick around," he told his callers. "If I take those kids out in the rain to be photographed, their fathers and mothers will be after me."

Congress is now probing the fact that the oil industry, which owes its prosperity to the gasoline burned on highways, is so shortsighted that it opposes new highways. Reason: To pay for the roads, many states are boosting gasoline taxes.

The extra taxes aren't paid by the oil companies, but by motorists. Yet the industry has already boosted "gas" prices so high they fear the public won't stand for both higher prices and higher taxes.

So, believe it or not, the oil lobby is actually fighting against building new roads.

Take North Carolina, for example: Gov. Kerr Scott, a hard-hitting liberal, submitted a $200,000,000 road program to the voters. To finance it, he proposed a one-cent-per-gallon increase in the state gasoline tax. The oil lobby immediately and bitterly opposed, appealed to city voters to block the program.

When the vote finally came, city people did vote 5-1 against new rural roads. But the farmers amassed 225,000 votes to the urban voters' 175,000.

Meanwhile, in the rest of the nation, highways are in worse general condition than at any time since the depression. Yet the oil lobby continues to oppose new roads.

But here are the statistics: Since 1945, the number of automobiles on highways has increased by 10,500,000. Of these, 2,500,000 are trucks. All told, 100,000,500,000 ton-miles were traveled in 1948—almost double the 1945 traffic. Yet only a paltry few million dollars have been added to the road bill. Because of inflation, even this increase in dollars really has been a decrease in purchasing power when it came to road building.

Result has been wear-and-tear on automobiles, irritating traffic snarls, and an increase in traffic deaths. What the public doesn't realize is that safety can be built into the roads. Yet the public, while paying more for automobiles and gasoline, has let the highways run down.

Joe Leedom, jr., who has been associated with his father in the paper, will become editor of a Los Angeles county neighborhood weekly.

MILITANT CHURCH THE NEED.

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Mr. John Peck and I don't always agree, but with his latest contributions to the column on "Militant Ministers" I agree 100 per cent. If all ministers were like Apostle Paul, for example, we would have an entirely different world and a vastly better one. A militant church with a militant ministry is what we need.

VOTERS VS. COUNCIL.

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: In the recent election the Lincoln voters approved the return of diagonal parking on Thirteenth street in the business district. In The Lincoln Star the night before election the city council stated that if the majority wanted diagonal parking it would be resumed immediately. Have the majority got what they voted for? No! Apparently the city council states the public doesn't know what it wants. If this is true, it would appear we have the wrong people on the council. If voters are not capable of voting on one issue, why are they on another? We did not vote for our decision to be turned over to a so-called expert. If that's what was wanted, why wasn't it stated that way? I wonder why we even have an election. It's quite apparent the voters are ignored and the council does as it pleases. Can't we voters do something about this?

KATHLEEN P. SELLMEYER.

NOTE: There is a pending court action to settle the parking matter.

THE RIGHTIST GROUP.

Manhattan, Kas.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I enclose herewith a clipping from a recent issue of the news weekly, In Fact. It is a reprint of a speech by Nebraska's Rep. Eugene O'Sullivan and a part of the Congressional Record of June 2. It is regrettable that every voter in Nebraska cannot read the speech. It harks back to the days when Nebraska was represented by such statesmen and national figures as W. J. Bryan and George Norris. Both foes of the special interests which to a large extent constitute the extreme rightest group. This speech is a heartening deviation from the reactionary, isolationist attitude of Nebraska's congressional representation of recent years which aligns them with the backward-looking "right."

ERNEST B. BENNE.

NOTE: In the speech referred to, Rep. O'Sullivan said America's threat came from the extreme right, not the left. It we lost our liberties it would be due to fascism, the Nebraskan charged.

MUST HAVE SECURITY.

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Just what is the basic distinction between the democratic and republican parties today? The democratic party believes the American people must have assurance against economic insecurity and chaos; they must have adequate health, housing and educational facilities, and greater protection of civil rights to enlist our full moral and material resources in the cause of peace. Democrats believe attainment of these objectives is essential to the preservation of a productive free enterprise system. We of the democrat party believe it is the duty of government to lead the way toward such goals. During 16 years of democrat administration the American enterprise system has reached record levels of production and employment. The humanitarian system of government instituted by President Roosevelt, and continued by President Truman, to lift our nation out of the Hoover depression, is here to stay. The humanitarian efforts to protect our people is here to stay—it was on its way long before 1933. "Big government" in the sense that the federal government has served, and will continue to serve, is umpire in our competitive system. This has become necessary with the growing complexities of our civilization, with its new production techniques and transportation and communication, which require government regulation for the protection of the public.

J. R. FARRIS.

SOCIAL SECURITY FUNDS.

Hebron, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I have noticed several articles published in the newspapers of late that would lead us to believe the surplus in the social security fund is being misappropriated when invested in government bonds and made to earn interest that goes to enlarge the fund, instead of allowing it to lie in the treasury.

No one will claim it is not a sound investment.

All the banks and insurance companies invest their surplus funds in government bonds to earn the interest. If it is good business for them, why is it a crime to set the social security surplus to work? They tell us those paying in to the social security fund will have to pay twice.

From the editor of the Nebraska City News-Press comes the following statement:

"He (the holder of a social security card) in force to pay once in his weekly pay deductions. He will pay again when the bonds which are his obligation are paid. (Since when did government bonds become the obligation of any one special group of citizens?) It is not good common sense to run a business in that fashion."

I gave Mr. Sweet credit for knowing better and I am surprised that he laid himself wide open for criticism.

T. H. CARTER.

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS CHILDS

NEW YORK—The political decisions taken in Washington tend to seem more politically motivated when viewed from a little way off. A case in point is the extraordinary development in the investigation into the atomic energy commission.

Marquis Childs

The investigation had proved to be a pretty empty business. Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, who initiated it with reckless general charges, was reduced to scratching up trivialties. It had dropped into the back pages of even those newspapers interested in smearing the civilian commission and Chairman David Lilienthal in particular.

In the face of all this Sen. Brien McMahon, chairman of the joint senate-house committee on atomic energy, comes out with the proposal that his committee have the veto power over the supposedly independent commission. They would exercise this veto power by passing on any enterprise involving the expenditure of more than $1,000,000.

That is, in effect, a finding of guilty against Lilienthal. If Hickenlooper had been shrewd, he would have said, "gentlemen, I see that I have made my case and I have nothing more to say."

The full implications of that veto have not been fully appreciated. I doubt that even Senator McMahon, who has battled for civilian control, is entirely aware of what such a veto would mean.

It would put the atom right in the middle of politics. That is not my view alone. It is the view of those who have had most to do with the control of atomic energy at the international level.

Prophecy, as some recent events have shown, is a dangerous undertaking in matters political. But, in my opinion, if congress takes up McMahon's suggestion and approves this veto power, the following would happen:

1. Lilienthal would resign as chairman of the atomic energy commission and the strong probability is that two or three other commissioners would leave.

2. President Truman would find it difficult, if not impossible, to persuade a civilian of stature to take the vacated chairmanship.

The crowd out to "get Lilienthal" might rejoice at this outcome. But I believe their rejoicing would be very temporary. Political control exercised through such a veto would inevitably retard atomic development. Those who know say that under such circumstances the United States very quickly would lose its present lead.

Pressure groups working through the senate-house committee would interfere in every decision taken by the commission. This is not just theory. A recent example shows how such pressures are brought to bear and what the consequences are.

The atomic energy commission had decided to build a natural-gas pipe line to the great Oak Ridge, Tenn., atomic project. The decision had been taken after weighing all the factors—cost, accessibility of supply, security and dependability of the fuel supply. The best technical brains available had passed on it.

But then certain pressure groups began to turn on the heat. The railroads, the coal miners, the coal mine owners all came down on the congressional committee. They didn't want a gas pipe line to Oak Ridge; they wanted coal used at Oak Ridge.

The joint senate-house committee named a subcommittee to look into the proposed pipe line. That subcommittee disapproved it and was supported by the full committee.

Nevertheless the AEC is going ahead with the pipe line. One reason is the fact that the commission has what is believed to be an irrevocable contract with the company that would build the line and furnish the gas.

If that kind of interference is possible, and it would be possible under the veto advocated by McMahon, then there could be no orderly operation of the vast atomic energy project with its billion-dollar budget. Politics would dictate vital decisions.

Senator McMahon, who has in the past shown such a sense of responsibility, would not be likely to say, "Look, why doesn't my state of Connecticut get more of these atomic plants; we need them up there." But politicians with less understanding of what is at issue might well say just that.

An independent commission is bound to make mistakes in an undertaking so large. But if able and good men are chosen, they must be allowed to make their own mistakes, since their independence and their ability will insure a satisfactory over-all result. A political veto would nullify their independence and circumvent their ability.

MOTHER PRIDE

I've scrubbed and I've stitched. I've baked and I've swept.
There were times when I've laughed and times when I've wept.
And was it worth while, should you ask me, I'd say
It was. I have sons to be proud of today.

For years there is much that mother must do.
With cleaning and cooking she runs the day through.
With watching and waiting the long nights are spent,
For 'til home are her children she's never content.

Worth while, do you ask me? My daughters are fair
And happily facing the same round of care.
I have sons to be proud of now grown up to men,
And for pride such as that I would do it again.

5 doctors prove this plan breaks the laxative habit

If you take laxatives regularly—here's how you can stop!

Because 5 New York doctors now have proved you may break the laxative habit. And establish your natural powers of regularity. Eighty-three per cent of the cases tested did it. So can you.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead: Every night for one week take 2 Carter's Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then—nothing!

Every day: drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for regularity.

Five New York doctors proved this plan can break the laxative habit.

How can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's Pills "unblock" the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers.

Further—Carter's Pills contain no habit-forming drugs.

Break the laxative habit . . . with Carter's Pills . . . and be regular naturally.

When worry, overeating, overwork make you irregular temporarily—take Carter's Pills temporarily. And never get the laxative habit.

Better Nebraska Group Arms For Road Improvement Fight

...Schedules Lincoln, Norfolk, Ogallala Meetings

The better Nebraska association, sponsor during the last session of the legislature of bills making up Governor Peterson's highway program, is again preparing to do battle, H. G. Greenamyre, executive secretary, said Thursday.

The highway program is once more under fire after the attorney general approved the form of referendum petitions to submit the increased gas tax and motor vehicle registration fees to a popular vote.

Mass Meetings.

Greenamyre said he had invited all mayors, chairmen of village boards, members of city councils and village boards, county officers and others who worked with the association, to attend one of three meetings to be held in Lincoln on June 27, Norfolk, June 28, and Ogallala, June 29.

"We welcome the opportunity of carrying this program to the people," Greenamyre said. "We feel that the facts as to the true condition of Nebraska roads and the figures of the money available for state roads as presented to the legislature convinced senators that additional money was necessary."

The referendum petitions are being sponsored by three Nebraska farm organizations. During the legislative discussion of the bills the farm groups, together with trucking and petroleum interests bitterly opposed passage of the measures.

Predicts Passage.

"We believe the same facts and figures that convinced the legislature will convince the people that additional money is necessary and the legislation will be approved by the people at the polls," Greenamyre predicted.

He emphasized that the meetings called were not to oppose the signing of the petitions but to make available facts and figures before a vote is taken.

"Under our form of government the people are entitled to express themselves in this manner on any legislation of this kind and the association is glad to have the opportunity to present to the people facts figures which it does not appear people have been interested in up to this time," Greenamyre stated.

Farm Women's Exchange

EDITED BY CLARA BELL GRAVES

Address your letters to Mrs. Clara Bell Graves, editor, The Lincoln Star Exchange, 905 N. Fifth St., Springfield, Ill.

"The deaf seem much happier than the blind," say many folk. But these people never have been closely associated with the sightless. Being a member of an organization that has bought a home for blind women, I sat with them in meeting last week. Not having to wait for bus nor depend upon an automobile to take me to my distination, I arrived ahead of many of the state representatives. It was a pleasure to hear and to see them greet one another by name, judging personality by the voice instead of the eyes and walking from room to room, "seeing" the beautifully furnished old home, the residence of many children, in church charge, until recently when it was sold to the blind. They laughed and told jokes and were as happy as I.

The business meeting was conducted in a large room in the basement of the building. A man was going around the outer parts of the room, tapping the floor with his cane. "This is a very large room," said he, "and it will hold all of us."

"But how do you know?" I questioned.

"I know by the sound of it," replied the blind man.

No sighted secretary could have conducted a meeting with greater expediency. By the braille method, she took notes and read the minutes of the previous meeting. And they have earned the money for a down payment on the home with prayer and faith and hard work.

Now and then, some of my readers will feel greatly impressed by some story of mine of courage and self sacrifice. If you do feel inclined to send a contribution, address your letter to the Mary Bryant Home for the Blind Women of Illinois, 107 E. Lawrence Ave., Springfield, Ill.

Box Lunch.

It was new to me, the box lunch for a crowd of people. But it was most satisfactory. The boxes were filled with sandwiches, a banana, salad and potato chips. Coffee was served. There were no plates nor forks nor knives to wash for 75 people. The chef served cherry or apple pie from a small table in the rear. A large garbage can stood on the back porch and, after the meal, the boxes were collected and small tables wiped off, folded and put away. Easy? It was the easiest serving that I ever had a hand in.

Chef Says This.

"Ever tasted fried bananas?" asked the chief as I helped serve the pies. "Cut ripe bananas through the middle and again lengthwise. Roll each piece in beaten egg, then in cracker crumbs and fry in part butter."

Baked Sweetbreads.

A friend of mine, who cannot see as well as she used to, still likes to wield the baking pans and knock out the best of cakes, roll out the daintiest of pies and serve complete meals to her guests. "Come taste my sweetbreads," she said, opening the oven door temptingly. "I cannot see to fry foods."

She had parboiled the sweetbreads, then rolled them in seasoned flour, put them into a baking dish in which floated butter and baked the organ meat until brown, and tender inside. As delicious as the most choice piece of pork.

Says a reader, "When you wash blankets, put moth balls or moth crystals into the washer and the blankets will be protected against moths. No further bother about de-mothing."

IN THE MAIL

July Place Cards.

Make individual place cards by using frosted doughnuts. Put a marshmallow in the center of each. Then stick a tiny minature flag in the center. Tie the name of the guest onto each stick.—Mrs. F. T. Bell.

Give Child Medicine.

When giving a child medicine, oftentimes it is in tablet form. A small child can hardly swallow it. Drop the pill into a teaspoon of applesauce and thus give it to the child. It will go down without any trouble.—Mrs. Elmer Wilson.

Red Cherry Betty.

Two and one-half cups of pitted red cherries, three cups corn flakes, two-thirds cup firmly packed brown sugar, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-half teaspoon nutmeg, one tablespoon butter or margarine. Drain cherries, reserving syrup. Mix cornflakes, cinnamon and nutmeg. Slice alternate layers cornflakes mixture and cherries into a baking dish. Dot with butter or margarine, add one-fourth cup syrup from cherries. Bake in a moderate oven at 375 degrees for 20 minutes.—Mrs. Elsie Aeschlimann.

Sanitation Is Argument For Housing Bill

Conditions In Slums Said Worse Than In Camps For Refugees

WASHINGTON—(INS)—Franklin D. Roosevelt, jr., who recently visited both refugee and displaced persons camps overseas, said today that nowhere did he see sanitary conditions as bad as those in Philadelphia and New York slums.

Roosevelt, newly elected to represent New York's 20th district, made his observation after a bi-partisan group of congressmen took a first-hand inspection tour of housing in those two important cities.

The trip convinced the group that federal housing is the one cure for these sore spots.

In one Philadelphia slum, the visitors had to be careful to stay on the down-wind side of outdoor toilets which city authorities vouched had been without running water for three years.

Roosevelt observed that he recently had seen both refugee camps in the middle east and displaced persons camps in Europe. He said:

"Nowhere did I see sanitary conditions as bad as these we have seen in Philadelphia and in New York."

Rep. Javits (R-NY) organized the flying trip to emphaszie what he called the non-polititcal nature of the housing bill now being debated in the house.

GO FORTH TO THE FOURTH

With Plenty Of Food

If you want to make a Fourth of July drum salad, all you need do is to mold tomato aspic in a coffee can and decorate it as we suggest in the following recipe.

INGREDIENTS: 2 envelopes unflavored gelatin, ½ cup cold water, 2¼ cups tomato juice, 1 eight-ounce can tomato sauce, 1 bay leaf, 2 slices onion, 1 sprig parsley, 1 cup coarsely cut celery leaves, ½ teaspoon salt, 6 cloves, 8 peppercorns, 2 tablespoons cider vinegar.

METHOD: Sprinkle gelatin over cold water in mixing bowl and allow to soften. Put tomato juice, tomato sauce, bay leaf, onion, parsley, celery leaves, salt, cloves, peppercorns, and vinegar in a saucepan; bring to a boil, rapidly reduce heat and simmer about 10 minutes. Strain over softened gelatin; stir until dissolved. Turn into a one-pound coffee can. Chill until firm. Unmold on serving platter. To decorate mold, soften ½ a three-ounce package of cream cheese with 1 tablespoon milk. Put through pastry tube to make V-shaped marking on mold. Put 2 pieces of celery on top of mold to resemble drum sticks. Garnish platter with fire cracker and liberty bell sandwiches. Serve with mayonnaise and a separate bowl of salad greens. Makes 8 servings.

NOTE: Fire crackar sandwiches are rolled sandwiches with small piece of red radish stuck in roll to resemble fire cracker tip. Liberty bell sandwiches are made by cutting bread from paper pattern in shape of bell and filling with a favorite spread.

For a bang-up party drink try mock champagne. Just mix grape juice and orange juice with a little sugar syrup and fill the glasses with chilled pale dry ginger ale.

Spark Cause Of Newman Grove Oil Tank Fire

Newman Grove's $20,900 oil tank fire on June 13 has been blamed on a spark accidentally struck during the loading of a gas truck, the state fire marshal's office said today.

An investigation revealed that the fire originated at the Red Star Oil Co., and spread to the nearby Farmers Union Co-Operative company. Although more oil tanks belonging to the Standard Oil Co. were endangered, only a warehouse was destroyed.

In spite of bad roads which prevented fire equipment from neighboring towns reaching Newman Grove in time to assist, the local fire department had the blaze under control in 90 minutes.

Indications are that the oil companies will rebuild. However, in their new location they will cover an area of approximately three blocks, compared to the one block area they formerly occupied.

One man's Opinion

by WALTER KIERNAN

(Distributed by International News Serv.)

It has been so dry in New York people have been carrying their own rain to picnics.

In the suburbs men carrying vacuum jugs sneak around to lawn owners after dark whispering, "hey Buddy . . . wanna buy a hot gallon of water?"

Actually we don't need a secretary of welfare but the cabinet was out of balance with nine members and Harry is going to try for 10.

Major Party Of Women Is Suggested

DES MOINES—(INS)—Vivien Kellems, fiery woman industrialist from Connecticut, today has scornfully assailed virtually everything masculine and proposed that American women form their own political party and elect a woman president.

Speaking at a "ladies' day" luncheon yesterday, Miss Kellems lambasted the masculine gender, President Truman, Secretary of Agriculture Brannan, income taxes, communists, democrats and republicans.

She spoke before approximately 300 women attending a luncheon held in connection with the Des Moines Register and Tribune's centennial celebration.

Regarding political parties, Miss Kellems said:

"Personally, I'm fed up with both parties. You dear sweet men have been running both parties and, if I may be perfectly honest, you have made a mess of things."

Answering her own question regarding the possible success of a "women's party," Miss Kellems declared:

"Give me the women's vote and I'll win any election in this country."

All Things Concern God, Pastor Says

At Conclusion Of Chaplains Retreat

"God will not keep out of anything," Rev. Walter H. Traub Omaha, told Tenth air force chaplains at the conclusion of a three-day retreat Thursday at Wesleyan univresity.

"Living in a land of rugged individualism, men resent any interference with what they call their private affairs," Rev. Traub said.

"Many people," he added, "like religion if it does not interfere with their business, their pleasure, or the ordering of their lives."

Rev. Harold C. Barr, dean of the Lawrence, Kas., School of Religion, pointed out that the Gospel of John is as interesting for what it leaves out as what it puts in. He termed it the most philosophical as well as the most devotional of the gospels.

Church Unions Listed.

Dr. C. Vin White, First Presbyterian church, presented a report on church unions recently completed.

At Wednesday night's session Rev. Traub told the group that "Religion can be the strongest or the weakest thing in the world."

"Religion is the one thing needful in this present world if its shattered pieces are to be gathered up into the brand new world of which men dream," he said.

Rev. Lloyd Gustafson of Mason City, Ia., said "economic security, social prestige and academic superiority cannot save us from the need of spiritual redemption."

"If we outgrow evangelism in its right sense, we cease to grow at all," Rev. Gustafson continued.

Rev. Barr, described the book of Revelations as one of "strange fascination for some Christians," and as "unintelligible" reading for others.

"Out of times of stress this book expressed the despair of the early Christians of the present world, but their complete confidence in the ultimate triumph of God," Rev. Barr concluded.

Rev. Paul Becker of Bethany Christian church, Lincoln, addressed the closing afternoon session Wednesday, saying: "America is in a position of world leadership but she is not well prepared for the task. America lacks the assurance and poise that Christian faith alone can give," he said.

Emergency Funds Advanced Fight Polio Two Areas

$18,975 Given

Emergency advances totaling $18,975 to fight the new spread of infantile paralysis was advanced to two Nebraska chapters by the national headquarters of the Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Clinton Belknap, east Nebraska representative of the national foundation, reported that an advance of $16,525 had been delivered to the Douglas county chapter at Omaha and that a check for $2,450 had been sent to Kearney County Chapter at Minden.

Funds Depleted.

Kearney county was one of the Nebraska counties reporting a high incidence of polio in 1948, Belknap said, and although this county led the state in per capita giving to the January March of Dimes, the treasury is now depleted and additional help is required to provide needed continued medical care for 1948 polio patients. One of these patients is a young man still confined to an iron lung and needing constant care and attention, Belknap said.

The current advance to Douglas county brings to $39,200 the total advanced to this county since January 1 of this year, it was stated. Douglas county reported 298 cases of polio in 1948, Belknap stated—more than 41 per cent of all cases reported in the entire state last year. Many of these patients will continue to require expensive care and treatment over a long period of time, the Polio Foundation's state representative said.

You Can't Beat This Drum

What better way could you celebrate Independence day than to have this beautiful drum cake in honor of the occasion? The cake is no effort to make, for all you do is add one cup of water to one package of cake mix and you have two tall, luscious 8-inch layers of cake that can't be beat. The cake mix already contains all necessary ingredients to make a perfect cake every time—all you do is add water, mix and bake—and you can't possibly fail when you use it. It comes in four popular flavors—white, golden, spice and devil's fudge — so you can make this attractive drum cake in your favorite flavor.

For that fancy touch, dress it up with fluffy white frosting, studded with bright red cherries and lace the drum back and forth with loops of frosting tinted blue and put on with the pastry tube! This cake is just the touch needed on that 4th of July picnic, or to grace the buffet table, or be the "conversation piece" for your porch party.

Here's a recipe for the fluffy white frosting, or you can use your own favorite recipe:

FLUFFY WHITE FROSTING
1 cup sugar
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
⅛ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup water
1 egg white
½ teaspoon vanilla
6 marshmallows, cut in quarters

METHOD: Bring sugar, cream of tartar, salt and water to boiling; let cook until sugar dissolves. Add to unbeaten egg white and quartered marshmallows beating constantly with rotary or electric beater until frosting is in peaks. Add vanilla and spread on cake.

Penitentiary Escape Plan Said Thwarted

. . . Hole Discovered

An escape plan that was foredoomed to failure was thwarted by officials at the state penitentiary, Col. James M. Jones, warden, informed the board of control today.

One of the convicts was detected working with crude instruments digging a hole in the old laundry building. He insisted that he was merely seeking to bury some of his possessions under ground so that they could not be taken away from him.

However, full details of the plot had been known to officials for several days and they allowed the work to proceed to verify their information.

Overcrowded.

Col. Jones said that the plan called for digging down to an abandoned tunnel leading to the steam tunnel. If this plan would have worked, they planned to overcome guards in the power plant and escape. The power plant is outside the walls.

The warden explained that the abandoned tunnel has been sealed up with a cement wall which they would have been unable to penetrate. Further, he said, had they attempted to crawl through the steam tunnel they would have been killed by the extreme heat before they reached the power house.

With prison population now more than 800 and nearly 200 greater than it was two years ago, extreme caution is being taken to avert trouble. The overcrowded conditions make it necessary that all guards be alert, the warden said.

Adult Leadership Lacking In Child Recreation Service

...Group Reports In Panel On Juvenile Delinquency

Responsibility, strengthening of influential home life, and adult leadership were the three issues discussed in the open panel Wednesday night of the community leaders attending the institute on juvenile delinquency problems now in progress on University of Nebraska campus.

Dr. Otto G. Hoiberg, supervisor of the University of Nebraska's bureau of community services of the extension division acted as moderator of the panel which brought together a group of 19 women leaders.

Planning and organization of recreational programs done by the children with no outside interference from adults was stressed by the members of the panel. They felt there was a lack of enthusiasm if adults interfered too much.

But they all agreed that adult leadership, not interference, was lacking, and that in too many communities groups of adults meet, make plans for recreation services, then go their separate ways, neglecting to fulfill their obligations in making those plans.

"Keep Plans On Adult Basis."

They also agreed on keeping young peoples programs on an "adult basis," whereby through projects undertaken by the young people they can serve themselves as well as young people abroad.

Such projects as collecting books and clothes to be sent overseas benefit young people abroad as well as help youth in America learn to understand neighbors across the water.

Friendly parental interest in their childrens' activities, without a "too-close supervision, was stressed. Through studies of American homes they found that there is less juvenile delinquency where the parents take an active interest and part in the activities and problems of their children.

The aim of the institute is to make better children to be better parents. In most cases it isn't the child that is at fault, but because of negligence on the part of the parents delinquency is prevalent, the discussion members said.

-Bus Survey-

Better Service In Peak Hours Is One Feature

Final Report Due Next Week: Barton Confers With Lines

A final report on the bus survey being conducted by Traffic Consultant George Barton will be in the hands of the mayor and city council soon.

Barton, who is in Chicago consulting with National City Lines officials, will come to Lincoln early next week and recommend action to resolve the bus situation. Barton presented his preliminary report to the Lincoln council three weeks ago.

Upon direction of the council he returned to Chicago where he has been negotiating with the parent company officials to see if they will agree to the proposals.

Because the city council has heard the preliminary recommendations, which Barton does not expect to alter greatly, the council now wants to know just how far the bus company will go.

"If the company will not go along with our proposals, it will be necessary to go before the state railway commission," declared Mayor Clarence Miles.

Hope For Agre ment.

"But we hope the company will agree with us, thus precluding an expensive trial," he added.

Where the bus company may balk is on proposals for more inter-connecting lines across town. As first outlined by Barton the changes will bring more timely service and better service in peak hours.

Barton said that his proposals would not necessitate increased operating costs for the company. His suggestions would actually make for better, faster service with fewer buses. According to the mayor, the company could, with the present number of buses, effectuate the changes bringing about better service, if Barton's report is reliable.

No Bids Required Buy Road Machinery

The attorney general's office said there are no statutory provisions requiring publication of notice and solicitation of bids before counties may purchase road machinery and equipment.

The opinion said all counties must publish notice calling for bids, however, where gravel is to be purchased.

County Attorney W. L. Brenan of Boyd county requested the ruling.

Girl, 16, Arrested In Check Passing

A 16-year-old Lincoln girl was turned over to county juvenile authorities Tuesday following her arrest for check forgery. A local florist's complaint led to the arrest of the girl.

Police picked up the girl after the florist reported she attempted to cash a $35 check on a purchase of flowers. Later police recovered a radio and a pair of cowboy boots she purchased with a $50 check.

Investigations revealed that the girl attempted to cash another check for a watch and a ring. The check was not accepted.

California Skirts Forecast Higher Necks, Shorter Skirts

LOS ANGELES —(AP)— Outside a 90 degree sun was beating down, but California designers had their minds on fall rainwear.

Raincoats with weighted hemlines—to keep the coat down no matter how hard the wind blows—featured the display by Colle of Hollywood at the California Apparel Creators' fall fashion show.

The coat is made of shiny velon and has a braid trim around the yoke, sleeves and belt. Hat and bag match.

In the lingerie department, strapless slips with built-in bra scored a hit. There's a strapless nightgown, too. It's held up by elastic in the back and around the top.

Necklines, it seems, are coming back up, on both dresses and casual clothes. Turtle necks and small rolled collars will be reinstated. The plunging neckline, while remaining for afternoon and evening dresses, usually will have a convertible collar.

In short, necklines will either be very high or very low. Whistles, presumably, will be in reverse ratio.

Skirt lengths were from a half to one inch shorter. Dressy dresses still have back interest, but elaborate bustle effects have given way to more simple lines.

Fabrics to watch: Plaid corduroy for casual wear, brocaded taffeta for cocktail dresses, glove suede for dresses and coats; puckered cotton and rayon with satin stripe for coat dresses.

Diller Farmer Believed First To Harvest '49 Wheat

25 Bu. Per Acre Yield Predicted

Expect Southeast Combining In Full Swing July Fourth

(Special to The Star)

FAIRBURY, Neb. — Nebraska's first reports of wheat harvest came from this area today.

Alfred Schramm, farmer near Diller, began harvesting his 10-acre field of Pawnee wheat Wednesday with a self-binder.

The operation was strictly a family affair with Mrs. Schramm driving the tractor and her husband operating the binder.

Good Quality.

Schramm estimates that the wheat will yield 25 bushels per acre for the 10-acre field. He reports the wheat fully developed and of good quality.

Elsewhere in southeast Nebraska, indications reveal that harvest is just around the corner. Combines are expected to get into action by the Fourth of July.

Ag experts say the wheat outlook is good in most of the southeast area and yields are expected to average from 12 to 25 bushels per acre.

Gage Prospects "Fair."

Gage county prospects are "fair," according to AAA Chairman Joseph Shalla. The northern part of the county should average from 12 to 15 bushels per acre with the southern part running about five bushels over this. The yearly over-all average wheat production in the county is 16.7 bushels to the acre.

In Jefferson county, farm authorities believe the average wheat yield will run about 25 bushels, slightly over the average of the past two years.

Johnson County Agent L. F. Boyden reports a "pretty good" wheat outlook in his area although production will fall below the average yield. Fields are expected to average around 12 bushels, compared to last year's 17 bushel per acre mark. Harvest is expected to start next week with operations in full swing by July Fourth.

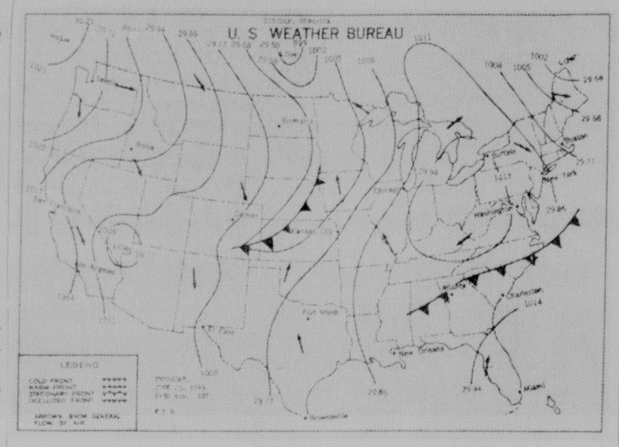

Yields in Saline county will average around 20 bushels per acre, according to Saline County Agent J. V. Cain. He said there are several fields in the county which were injured by the ice last winter and will not be harvested. The Pawnee wheat fields should be ready for combining July 4, Cain reported.

Pawnee county's wheat is in "fair shape," according to County Agent R. N. Houser. He said it is impossible to make any yield estimate at the present time.

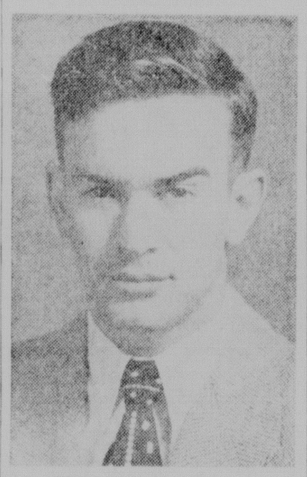

Sees Possible Shipment Delay

A spokesman for a Lincoln milling company said the government grain storage program might delay shipment of "free wheat" to local markets.

Neither the Lancaster county agent's office or the University of Nebraska agronomy department had heard of any current wheat harvesting in southeast Nebraska Thursday afternoon. But Dr. F. D. Keim, chairman of the agronomy department, stated "most of the wheat that will be harvested will be sold directly from the combine." He remarked that there will not be too much storage, unless the price drops below present prices.

WEATHER BUREAU SUMMARY—Showers occurred since early Wednesday in the upper Mississippi valley and in local areas of the Gulf and Atlantic coast states. There were some scattered heavy falls of over an inch in southeastern Nebraska, extreme northwestern Missouri and extreme southeastern Minnesota. Over an inch fell at Meridian, Miss., and 2.83 inches at Apalachicola, Fla. Light showers fell in western Montana. Slightly cooler and drier air is moving behind the east-moving cold front, extending from extreme eastern Nebraska to northwestern Kansas. Highest temperature Wednesday afternoon exceeded 90 from Nebraska southward, exceeding 100 in some localities in the Rio Grande valley and 110 was reached at Yuma, Ariz. Hot weather has returned to the interior valleys of California. Highest temperatures in the 70s occurred in Montana, northern New York and New England.

Programs May Cost Nation Lost Freedom

Wherry Warns In Creighton Address

CREIGHTON, Neb. — (AP) — Master planners in Washington want "to make each individual a robot," Senator Wherry (R-Neb) charged Thursday.

In an address at Creighton's diamond jubilee celebration, the Nebraska senator termed administration leaders "Pied Pipers," seeking "legislation which will x x x slide us into a socialistic state."

'All Cost Money.'

"The master planners at Washington pretend these things are as free as water, as free as the air," he said. "But you know there is no free medicine, free hospitals, free schools, free pensions, free security, no free anything. They all cost money. They all come out of the income of the people in direct taxes, and, indirectly in the cost of everything we buy.

"But more important, is the cost in lost freedom. x x x"

Wherry declared the welfare programs advocated by President Truman would cost over a 50-year period "one trillion, 250 billion dollars"—in silver dollars enough to "make seven stacks reaching to the moon with enough left over to pay all our 1948 taxes and wipe out the present national debt of a quarter of a trillion dollars."

Attacks Brannan Plan.

Wherry also renewed his attack on the Brannan farm plan, which he called the "grandfather of all schemes to regiment the people."

The Brannan proposal would halt the present practice of controlling prices of perishables as a means of assuring farmers a predetermined return. Instead it would allow prices to go down, and make up the difference to farmers through government subsidies.

Wherry called the plan "an economic monstrosity," and said "it won't work."

Instead he advocated a "production for use" farm program emphasizing utilization of farm products as industrial materials; stockpiling of food and fiber for a stabilizing reserve; tariff protection; a two-price system of exports to countries who can use our products in developing their economies, improved methods of processing and distributing foods, special sales campaigns to move surpluses of perishable goods; and continuation of present farm aid laws "during the period of transition from a regimented farm economy to a program of full utilization of farm commodities. x x x"

Work Begins On Bostwick Irrigation

Construction On Guide Rock Dam Under Way

RED CLOUD, Neb. — (AP) — After three and one-half years of preparation, work was under way Thursday on the Bostwick irrigation project.

The first shovelfuls of dirt were turned Wednesday on the Guide Rock dam, one of three which will make up the Bostwick project along with 11 canals.

A banquet here Wednesday night celebrated the beginning of work.

The dam is located near Pawnee lake eight miles east of here.

The Bostwick project, which will be fed by Harlan county reservoir now under construction near Republican City, will bring irrigation to about 90,000 acres of land in southern Nebraska and northern Kansas.

Key men in yesterday's ceremonies were members of the Bostwick district's board of directors, Chairman Oswin Keifer of Bostwick, A. E. Harington, Franklin, and H. E. Thomas, Red Cloud.

They helped turn the first spadefuls of ground, then took part in the program at the high school gymnasium here. The program was sponsored by the Red Cloud and Guide Rock chambers of commerce and the Red Cloud Lions club.

'Farmers Face Revolution.'

Builder of the dam is Kincelly-Moore construction company of Douglas, Wyo. Its engineer in charge at the dam, Ted Mills, said the project would take between one and one-half and two years to complete.

A. C. Tilley, chief engineer for Tri-County reclamation district, another speaker, warned that "optimism is a requisite" in projects of this kind.

He said farmers would face a revolution in their methods changing from dry land to irrigated farming.

Ag Demonstration Work In Germany Impresses Brokaw

W. H. Brokaw, director of extension emeritus at the University of Nebraska, is impressed with the quality of agricultural demonstration work being done in Germany.

Writing back from Stuttgart, where he is temporarily stationed with the military government as an agricultural expert, Mr. Brokaw tells friends at the college of agriculture of his observations. He indicates that many of the same problems being demonstrated in Nebraska are being demonstrated in Germany.

"During the past few days, I have attended three demonstration meetings," he says. "The first on potato culture and potato diseases. The setting was in the foothills of the Scoabian Alps. The country is very rolling to rough, but the potato plants, their diseases and discussion were much the same as were held in Nebraska in the beginning of potato work there.

"The meeting was planned by the county (Kreise) agent of Backnong with about 25 farmers and their sons gathered on a hillside field where potato plants were six to 10 inches high. A specialist in potatoes who really knew his business was conducting a fine demonstration on detecting diseased plants and discussing the value of rogueing them out.

"While his language was not intelligible to me, his methods were so fine that one could not help but get the importance of the discussion. Mosaic, spindle tuber, blight and black rot were discussed and he soon had the whole group interested and detecting the diseased plants. I also have seen demonstrations on hay curing on racks."

JOHN KLEIN.

HASTINGS—John Klein, 70, resident of the Roseland community for many years, died Tuesday in a Hastings hospital. Surviving are his wife, Mary; four sons, Matt, John W., Harry and Carl, all of Roseland; five brothers, and five sisters.

MRS. DONALD E. DRAEGER

Margaret Jane Stewart Weds Donald E. Draeger

All white flowers and lighted candles in branched holders made an attractive background for the marriage of Miss Margaret Jane Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Stewart of Lexington, to Donald E. Draeger, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Draeger of Sioux Falls, S. D., which was an event of Sunday afternoon, June 19, at the First Presbyterian church in Lexington. The ceremony was solemnized at 3 o'clock by the Rev. Paul Jesse Baird, minister of the First Presbyterian church, in the presence of one hundred guests. The wedding music was played by Mrs. William Jeffrey, organist, aunt of the bride.

Appearing in alike frocks of white organdy, worn over pale green satin, were Miss Katherine Pfeiffer of Chappell, the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Sherry Swanson of Omaha, Miss Kathryn Hirsch and Miss Kaye Menke, both of Lexington. Their costumes, fashioned with bouffant skirts, ornamented with bustle bows of green satin, and fitted bodices with brief sleeves, were completed with white mitts and halo hats of green organdy. They carried arm bouquets of flowers in pastel shades.

Richard Draeger of Minneapolis served his brother as best man, and the ushers were Douglas Nelson, Grand Island; Calvin Olson, Beresford, S. D., and William A. Stewart, jr., brother of the bride.

In her gown of imported white organdy the bride entered with her father, who gave her in marriage. Above the sashed-in waistline, the bodice was softly gathered at the low, rounded neckline which slipped into short, puffed sleeves, and which was patterned with chalk-white beads. The full skirt was completed with a chapel train. Her crownless picture hat was of the white organdy, and she carried a bouquet of orchids and stephanotis.

At the reception for eighty guests, held at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony, the refreshment table was arranged with a cut work banquet cloth brought from Italy by Mrs. Stewart, and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake. Quadrangles of tall white tapers were at either end of the table. Assisting at the reception were Mrs. O. L. McKee, Mrs. William Jeffrey, Mrs. L. E. Bock and Mrs. Norman Jeffrey, all aunts of the bride.

For the honeymoon trip to Lake Louise Mrs. Draeger wore a sand-toned suit of crepe, with matching lace blouse, and a small, veiled yellow hat. Mr. and Mrs. Draeger will come to Lincoln to reside.

The bride was graduated from Stephens college, Columbia, Mo., and the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. Mr. Draeger also was graduated from the University of Nebraska where he is a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

If We Don't Meander—

all around the mulberry bush in our conversation today we may get a bit of news in practically no space, so here we go—hastily and briefly—

HOME WEDNESDAY EVENING were Mrs. Harry K. Grainger and her daughter, Miss Shelia Grainger. Mrs. Grainger went east the first week in June to attend Miss Grainger's graduation from Westover school, after which there were visits with friends in New York City—and with relatives in West Virginia.

Incidentally Miss Grainger was a member of the Westover school Glee club which presented a concert on the eve of commencement—And we didn't know until today that during her two years at Westover she has been business manager of the school's year book. Her plans for the coming year include the University of Nebraska.

OFF TO DENVER FRIDAY will go Mr. and Mrs. Basil Boyd to attend the sixty-fifth wedding anniversary of Mr. Boyd's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Boyd of Denver, formerly of Aurora. The celebration will be an event of Monday, June 27—and after a few days visit with the celebrants, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd will return home.

UNDERSTAND THAT Mrs. Babb Whitten of New Orleans, La., arrived last Saturday to spend several days as the house guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Philip S. Hardy.

AND THAT REMINDS us—because Mrs. Whitten is to be a guest—that Thursday night is Walking club night—with dinner, of course, at the Lincoln Country club. Also included at the Walking club activities this evening will be Mrs. Thomas Folbre of San Antonio, Tex., who will attend as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Swingle.

Pre-Nuptial Courtesy

In pre-nuptial courtesy to Miss Eleanor Lorraine Miller, whose marriage to Gene Francis Hudkins will take place at 8 o'clock, Thursday evening, June 30, at Grace Methodist church, a group of friends entertained informally, Wednesday evening, in the Lancaster room of the Hotel Cornhusker.

Sixty guests were invited for a dessert supper, and a miscellaneous shower was presented to the honoree. The hostesses included Mrs. Ronald E. Atkinson, Miss Lillian York, Mrs. James Pillar, Miss Elaine Derr, Miss Jo Harbaugh, Miss Lila Tracy and Miss Maxine Royce.

MRS. ALFRED L. POWELL

Dr. and Mrs. Roy V. Loudon are today announcing the marriage of their daughter, Adeline Nellie, to Alfred Lindsay Powell of Arlington, Va., which was solemnized at the Church of St. Theresa, Syracuse, N. Y., on Tuesday, June 7. Only the immediate members of the families and a few close friends were present for the reading of the lines by the Rev. John Quink.

Miss Patricia Jean Loudon, sister of the bride, and Louis Powell, brother of the bridegroom, were the attendants.

Immediately following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the Kupperman hotel.

Following a honeymoon trip to the Thousand Islands, Mr. Powell and his bride will reside in Syracuse, N. Y., where the bridegroom will complete his studies in economics at the University of Syracuse, in September.

For the past three years Mrs. Powell has been in the office of general headquarters of the army, Pentagon building, Washington, D. C.

WE'RE SURE, JUDGING from the expressions on their cute faces, that if Susan K. (left) and her brother, Clarke, have been sending postcards home to their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Steckley in Fairmont, Minn., they have read—"Having wonderful time—" We can't be definite about that "wish you were here" business because Susan and Clarke assure us that they are having plenty of fun at the home of their grandmother, Mrs. J. M. Clarke, whose guests they have been the past several days.

Susan and Clarke leave Saturday to return to their home in Minnesota.

Marriage Is Solemnized

At a 6:30 o'clock evening ceremony, Wednesday, June 1, solemnized at the Elm Park Methodist church, Miss Dorthy Jean Abbott, daughter of Mrs. Clarence E. Abbott, became the bride of Richard L. Thomas, son of Ernest Thomas. Arrangements of white gladioli and greenery, and lighted cathedral candles, decorated the altar before which the Rev. Carl E. Bader read the lines of the service.

As the alter candles were lighted by Miss Marlene Jenkins and Miss Natalia Trenary, frocked alike in pink organdy, Orya Lee Fisher sang, accompanied by Miss Hilda Chowins, organist. Miss Chowins also played the wedding music.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Harry Riddle, who wore a period gown of pink dotted Swiss. Wearing like gowns of lilac and Nile green marquisette were Miss Mary Garrison, bridesmaid, and Miss Janet Jenkins, junior bridesmaid, and the flower girl was Miss Patricia Danek, wro wore white dotted Swiss. All the attendants carried cascade bouquets of white daisies.

Given in marriage by her brother, Donald Abbott, the bride appeared in a gown of Rosepoint lace. A heart-shaped neckline and long fitted sleeves designed the basqued bodice, and the flared skirt ended in a train. A halo of the lace held her finger tip length veil of matching lace, and she carried a shower bouquet of white carnations and stephanotis.

Harry Riddle served his cousin as best man, and the ushers were Ivan Dorn and Keith Potts. Gary Danek was ringbearer.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the parlors of the church. Included among those assisting were Miss Bernie Tomes, Mrs. Loren Brodahl and Mrs. Harry Robinson.

Mr. Thomas and his bride left for a wedding trip to Denver, Colo. For traveling, Mrs. Thomas wore a tailored frock of navy blue with white accessories.

MISS SHIRLEY BARWOOD

Whose engagement and approaching marriage to J. William Reinhard, son of Mrs. O. A. Reinhard and the late Dr. Reinhard, is announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Barwood of Tucson, Ariz.

The wedding will be an event Saturday, July 30, and the ceremony will be solemnized at the Trinity Presbyterian church in Tucson.

Miss Barwood attended the University of Southern California for two years and was graduated from the University of Arizona. During the past two years she has been a member of the faculty at the C. E. Rose school in Tucson.

Mr. Reinhard attended the University of Nebraska and will be graduated in July from the University of Arizona. During the war Mr. Reinhard served with the navy.

For her wedding, the bride chose a frock of brown chiffon in the daytime mode, with contrasting accessories in the yellow and turquoise tones. Her corsage was fashioned of yellow orchids sent to her from Hawaii by Mrs. Florine Greenwood, formerly of Lincoln.

Attending the couple were Edwin C. Boehmer, nephew of the bridegroom, and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Phillips of Fremont.

THIS YEAR you'll buy over 100 items of cottons and linens, if yours is an average family.* And they cost around $150! But how much you have to buy will depend a lot on the care you take with bleaching

DON'T expose your whites and color-fasts to uncontrolled bleaching. You'll weaken fabrics so they fray and split much sooner than they should. That wastes money.

DO whiten and brighten as directed with Controlled-Action Purex. This gentle way, your bleachables last as long as plain washing will let them. And you save money.

Only PUREX is made by the Intrafil Process. So it is uniform, stable—has Controlled Action.

Lincoln Safety Council Rejects State Fund Plan

The Lincoln - Lancaster Safety council was on record Thursday against entering a joint fund-raising program with the State Safety council.

The group's governing body voted 11 to 3 against the proposal to join the fund at a Wednesday afternoon meeting. Five members did not vote.

The state council's plan had called for assessment of a year's $1 membership fee of local members. The funds would then have been used to operate the state council which was denied a state appropriation by the 1949 legislature.

Mrs. C. M. Stewart, local council president, said "the Lincoln-Lancaster council is a local safety council supported by local memberships. Funds are spent for safety education work in Lincoln and Lancaster county."

Members indicated they are not opposed to the state plan, "but at present don't feel we can go along with it," she added.

Group Hears Plan To Cut Accidents

Components of a safety program in industry were outlined for the industrial safety division of the Lincoln-Lancaster Safety council Wednesday evening at the Y.M.C.A.

Gifford Mullins, council director, told the meeting that recognition of a safety problem, determination to correct it, finding a solution, and then correcting the problem are necessary steps under such a program. He gave a summary of 320 building construction trade accidents.

The finest beer we've ever brewed* gets a NEW DRESS

Yes, it's the finest beer Schmidt's has ever brewed and everyone at Schmidt's is proud of it. So proud that this better beer has been honored with a distinctive new gold foil label ... to help you recognize it easily. Open a bottle ... fill your glass. Watch the tiny bubbles. Admire the creamy head. Taste it! Slowly. You'll sense a cool tingling mellowness. That's what we mean by MELLOW-DRY. Cools your throat and tastes good all the way down. You'll say it's the finest beer you've ever tasted.

BREWED TO YOUR TASTE
If you are one of the many thousands who has enjoyed CITY CLUB in the past, you will enjoy it more than ever now. It's the product of nearly 70 years of brewing skill, coupled with advances in brewing technology. Combining to give you CITY CLUB's delicious mellow-dry flavor are: quality-tested ingredients, including the choicest of imported and domestic hops; then an unhurried brewing process, control-checked at every step; and slow-aging before bottling. Order often this finer, brewed-to-your-taste CITY CLUB.

*"In all our years of producing fine beer, never have we brewed so fine and satisfying a beer as you will find bottled under the new City Club label."
OTTO BREMER, President

Cramer To Teach At Coaching School

Chuck Cramer of the Cramer Chemical company, will handle the classes in the care of injuries at the Nebraska Coaching school to be held here August 15 to 18.

Lee Webb, secretary of the Nebraska High School Activities association which co-sponsers the school with the University of Nebraska Department of Intercollegiate Athletics, made the announcement.

Mr. Webb also announced that the registration fee would be $5. If the registrant wants a room in one of the university dormitories, the total cost will be $7.50, which would include the $5 registration fee for the four-day school. This is the same fee as was charged in 1948.

Jones Paces Cards

Now Half Game From League Leading Slot

By JOE REICHLER.
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

QUICK now, who is the regular first baseman of the St. Louis Cardinals?

The average baseball fan probably has to think twice before answering "Vernal (Nippy) Jones," but the 24-year-old sophomore first sacker, in his colorless, but efficient way, is doing a bang-up job for Manager Eddie Dyer.

Although he is shoved into the shadows by glittering teammates, it is doubtful if any other Redbird has done as much as Jones during the past 10 days to boost the Cards up to their present spot in the National league standings—a mere half game out of first place.

17 FOR 38.

In the Cards last nine games with Brooklyn, Philadelphia and New York, Jones has wrecked enemy pitching for 17 hits in 38 times at bat. He's driven in 17 runs and boosted his season mark 41 points to a respectable .311.

Jones collected three hits last night to help the Cards defeat the Giants, 11-8. The victory moved the Redbirds to within a half game of the first place Brooklyn Dodgers, who were defeated by the Reds in Cincinnati, 4-3.

The Cards won the hard way, making up an 8-1 deficit with three runs in the fourth, two in the sixth and a winning five in the seventh.

GO 11 INNINGS.

Cincinnati had to go 11 innings to defeat the Dodgers. Three successive singles by Peanuts Lowrey, Grady Hatton and Walker Cooper furnished the winning run after two were out. Ewell Blackwell pitching two and a third innings of relief, received credit for his first victory of the season.

A trio of homers by Herman Reich, Hank Sauer and Pitcher Dewey Adkins helped the last place Chicago Cubs outlast the Boston Braves, 9-8.

Dino Restelli, Rookie Pittsburgh outfielder, celebrated the end of his first week in the majors by blasting two homers—his fourth and fifth—to lead the Pirates to a 12-3 triumph over Robin Roberts and the Philadelphia Phillies. Vic Lombardi went all the way to notch his first victory of the season.

ROCK A'S.

The Detroit Tigers regained second place from the Philadelphia Athletics, defeating the Red Sox in Boston, 13-4, while the A's were bowing to the Cleveland Indians in a 14-inning thriller, 7-3. The triumph, coupled with New York's split in its doubleheader with the St. Louis Browns, left the Tigers four games behind the front-running Yankees.

The Yankees received a scare from the cellar-dwelling Browns who whipped them, 5-1, in the opener. However, the Yankees came back to outscore the Browns, 10-8, in the nightcap. In the other American league game, the Chicago White Sox, behind the steady hurling of southpaw Bill Wight, defeated the Senators in Washington, 4-1.

Dale Mitchell's triple with the bases loaded broke a 3-3 tie and gave the Indians a 14-inning triumph over the A's. The win moved the Tribe into fourth place past the Red Sox. Bob Lemon, who replaced starter Gene Bearden in the eighth, allowed one run in seven innings to receive credit for his seventh victory. Carl Schreib was the loser.

Waitkus Expected To Play This Year

CHICAGO—(INS)—An attending physician predicted Thursday that Eddie Waitkus, Philadelphia Phillies first-baseman, will be able to rejoin his team this year.

Dr. L. L. Braun, Chicago Cubs team doctor, declared, however, that it had not yet been determined whether the 29-year-old ball player would be able to play for the club he sparked through the early part of the season.

Meanwhile, the girl who shot Waitkus down June 14, Ruth Ann Steinhagen, was placed under close surveillance in her Cook county jail cell to prevent a possible suicide attempt.

Ten-Mile Title Holder Here; July 4th Races

Young Bobby Grim, rated as the most promising driver to be devloped in Indianapolis since the days of Billy Arnold and the winner of two recent features in the East, has tossed his hat in the ring for a shot at the heavy purse money that will be at stake here on July 4th, when the IMCA championship big car auto races are held on the fast State Fair track.

Hector Honore, well known Pana, Illinois racing enthusiast and owner of the famed "City of Roses" Offenhauser, notified Secretary Edwin Schultz that he will come to Lincoln for the avowed purpose of capturing the Dave Champeau Memorial Trophy, which will be awarded the winner of the feature event.

Grim sprang a surprise early this spring when he walked off with the feature event at Columbus, Georgia from a large field of cars on the highly banked speedway, then went on to beat both Frankie Luptow and Deb Snyder in a 20-lap event at Birmingham, Alabama, setting a new world's record for 10 miles.

Entries have been arriving daily at speed headquarters for the popular dirt track classic and a field of 20 cars and drivers is predicted for the seven-event race program. Time trials start at 1:30 and the first race at 2:30. Reserved seats are now on sale at Latsch Brothers, Lincoln.

Semi-Finals Up For State Women's Golf

In 1947, Mrs. Goddard and Mrs. Larson were the semi-finals winners. In the finals, Mrs. Larson took the crown.

It was Mrs. Larson who also won the tourney last year.

In championship flight consolation matches Wednesday Mrs. George Boland of Omaha defeated Mrs. Ray Muzzy of Fremont, 4-2. In the first flight Mrs. Marshall Holt of Fremont won over Mrs. C. A. Mallinson of Omaha, 4-3. In first flight consolation matches, Mrs. Henry Schuff, Grand Island, defeated Mrs. E. M. Slattery, Omaha, 5-4.

Second flight results included a 1-up win by Mrs. Marian Martin of Grand Island over Mrs. Cy Watson of Omaha. In first flight consolations, Mrs. S. O. Endsley, Omaha, defeated Rose Ann McLaughlin, Grand Island, 2 up.

Charles Wins Decision

DEFEATS JERSEY JOE WALCOTT FOR NBA HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPIONSHIP

By CHARLES EINSTEIN
(International News Service Sports Writer)

CHICAGO — (INS) — The solemn-faced figure of Ezzard Charles, whose manager fainted precisely on schedule, testified anew today that the road to the world's heavyweight title is paved with Jersey Joe Walcott.

Mr. Walcott, an agreeable citizen from Camden, N. J., who danced 62 rounds with Joe Louis in helping that worthy retain the title he held for 12 years, proved equally tractable under the lights at Comiskey park in Chicago Wednesday night.

In due time, the 35-year-old Walcott lost a unanimous 15-round decision to the 27-year-old Charles, who thus became successor to Louis as champion. In losing, Mr. Walcott also opened new and untried vistas in the heavyweight boxing department.

LOUIS MAY FIGHT.

It now will be perfectly all right for Louis, who promoted Wednesday night's title engagement in company with Arthur Wirtz and James Norris, to come out of retirement to fight Charles for the crown.

Had Walcott won, Louis could not have done this wtih equanimity, having assaulted Jersey Joe on two previous occasions.

All of this, however, is mere conjecture. The facts today are that the police gazette is looking for Charles and the police are looking for a few other people.

GATE LOW.

Among the renegades may be the glib publicitors who gaily predicted a 35,000 crowd and a $350,000 gross gate. Despite as fine a night as Keats ever wrote about, 25,932 showed up and the ticket gross was $246,546—$281,546 with radio and television included.

Charles, a citizen of Cincinnati, O., who had won 63 out of 69 fights at light heavyweight poundage prior to Wednesday's stirring scene, was to be presented with the historic title belt of The Police Gazette.

His manager, Jake Mintz, a man of few words but countless utterances, was to be in attendance pending a recurrence of one of the fastest strokes on record, undergone in the middle of the ring Wednesday night just after the announced vote of the second judge made Charles the official champion.

MINTZ FAINTS.

Mintz uttered a cry of a wounded hawk and fell to the canvas, where doctors and stretcher-bearers ministered to him. He was up almost without a count, just as his fighter was in the seventh round, which proved to be the clincher.

It had been more or less an even fight up to the seventh. At that juncture, Charles, swinging a furious left, caught his glove in the crook of Walcott's right arm Solidly, Ezard rolled to the floor. He was up without count or damage, but apparently the unscheduled flight to the canvas gave him time for decision.

When he got up, Charles was a new fellow. He had taken the cure. He slammed such a right to the jowls of Jersey Joe that even the furthermost grandstand, where most of the spectators found themselves sitting, could feel it. Walcott's eyes bulged. He sank back into the ropes, and Charles thumped him twice, with authority, on the noggin.

LOVE HUG.

Jersey Joe threw his arms around Ezzard with all the fervor of a long-lost twin. He was never the same after that. He never won a round after that. He is looking for a rematch, but the chances are good he never will fight again.

Walcott had promised to punch and he carried a 14-pound weight advantage—195½ to 181¾—but he was the same old Walcott. He backed and veered and toured the ring like a European traveler. Often, the galleries whistled and stamped and booed.

It's all over now. The National Boxing Association recognizes Charles as champion of the world.

Wife Hopes Joe Won't Try Again

... Went For Drive

CAMDEN, N. J.—(INS)—Jersey Joe Walcott's wife hopes he won't try again for the heavyweight championship of the world.

Mrs. Arnold Cream, who went for a drive while Jersey Joe was losing to Ezzard Charles, remarked:

"He can never win unless he knocks them out. He never seems to be able to win on points."

Mrs. Cream never has seen or listened to her husband's fights, although their six children were avid television fans Wednesday night.

Polly Riley Plays Babe

... In Quarter-Final

OKLAHOMA CITY—(AP) — A couple of Texans turned to golfing irons to settle an old score Thursday as the Western Women's Open golf tournament went into its quarter-final round.

The luck of the draw and a couple of well-placed victories placed Mrs. Babe Didrikson Zaharias, Port Arthur, against Polly Riley, the study little Irish girl from Fort Worth.

The were to e off in the first of four 18-hole quarterfinal contests which placed professionals against a quartet of par-shooting amateurs.

The Babe was boxed around by Polly in the last year's Texas Open tournament, 10-9.

Another contest will feature defending champion Patty Berg, Minneapolis, and Beverly Hanson, the Fargo, N. D., miss.

Another match Thursday sends professional Louise Suggs, the Western Open winner in 1946 and 1947, against Marjorie Lindsay, a steady challenger from Decatur, Ill.

Professional Betty Jameson, San Antonio, opposes Carol Diringer, Tiffin, O.

Five Lincoln Swingers Out Trans-Miss.

(Compiled from AP Reports)

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo.—The five Lincoln golfers entered in the Trans-Mississippi golf tournament at Colorado Springs fell by the wayside Wednesday in the meet's second round.

Harold Van Burg bowed before Jim Vickers of Wichita, Kansas, 4 and 2; Robert Lau was defeated by Al Norbont, Denver, 3 and 2; Bob Willits, Kansas City downed Don Pegler, 3-2; Eugene Zuspann, Goodland, Kansas took the measure of Phil Aitken, 5 and 3, and Emerson Carey of Denver was extended to 21 holes before he disposing of G. The tournament entered the fourth round Thursday with Skee Riegel, the defending champion, still the favorite.

Riegel, of Tulsa, Okla., had a rough afternoon Wednesday. A young University of Denver law student, Al Morbont, played him all even through the 14th before blowing the match.

As Norbont's shots started going wild, Riegel took the next three holes to post a 3 and 1 victory—his second of the day. Earlier he had scored a 7-6 second-round win over Charles Chapman of Denver.

Riegel was scheduled to lead off the fourth round against A. B. Potter of Oklahoma City.

Riegel's Walker Cup teammate, Charles Coe of Ardmore, Okla., still hasn't been pressed but might encounter worthy opposition Thursday from Jim Vickers of Wichita, Kas.

Coe posted his second and third one-sided triumphs Wednesday, defeating John C. Kelly of Sioux City, Ia., 6-5, and Dick Taylor of Phoenix, Ariz., 5-4. Vickers ousted John Goodwin of Kansas City 2-1.

Lindsay To Play Here

... Trans-Miss Golf

One of the nation's top-flight woman amateurs will make her appearance at the week-long Trans-Mississippi golf tourney at the Lincoln Country club June 28.

Marjorie Lindsay, 24, of Decatur, Ill., winner of the Florida East Coast title this year, has notified officials that she will be on hand when the meet opens.

Miss Lindsay currently is playing in the Western Women's Open golf tournament at Oklahoma City. Wednesday she defeated Jean Hopkins of Cleveland, 2 and 1 to advance to the quarterfinals.

This is Miss Lindsay's second year of competitive golf play, although she has been playing golf since she was 12 years old.

The Decatur star shot a 72 which was the lowest score ever made in a qualifying round on the Florida course when she won this year's East Coast title.

Teamed with Henry Picard, Miss Lindsay downed the outstanding professional [illegible] Suggs and Gus Novotny earl[illegible]is year, year.

Another entrant to the Trans-Miss tourney is Pat Devany, a 20-year-old lass from Grosse Ile, Mich. Miss Devany is also playing in the Western Women's Open and was sidelined Wednesday by one of the meet's favorites, Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex.

U. S. Netmen In 3rd Round

WIMBLEDON, Eng. — (INS) — American stars continued their victory march Thursday in the third round of the All-England tennis championships.

Ted Schroeder of La Crascenta, Calif., opened hostilities by eliminating R. Ruser of Switzerland, 6-3, 6-2, 7-5.

Frankie Parker of Los Angeles trimmed Phil Hanna, the New York actor now playing on a London stage, 6-2, 6-0, 6-4. Hanna has been playing surprisingly good tennis.

The No. 1 court was crowded with school girls for the Schroeder-Buser match. Buser who is ranked No. 2 in Switzerland, is a great retriever on the order of Bitsy Grant. But he has few attacking strokes and Schroeder, although slightly off his game, had little trouble winning.

Joe Labels Ez 'Sneaky'

... After Title Bout

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN.

CHICAGO — (AP) — Having flung his leather at Ezzard Charles without avail, Jersey Joe Walcott has decided to fling some mud.

While Charles, newly-crowned NBA heavyweight boxing champion, was paying somewhat of a tribute to loser Jersey Joe by saying "he can take it," Walcott called the 27-year-old Cincinnati belter "a sneaky puncher."

Weary Walcott, shopworn contender who missed his third try at the crown at Comiskey Park Wednesday night on a unanimous decision, told a dressing room crowd that "Charles is not a great fighter—he's a sneaky puncher who hit coming out of the clinches. When the referee broke us, I stopped fighting, but that dirty fighter kept banging away."

Felix Bocchicchio, Walcott's manager chimed in:

"Charles kept hitting low every round—They were punches that hurt my boy."

Davey Miller, veteran referee, discredited Wallcott's charge.

"I thought both fighters broke pretty well for big guys," he observed. "I didn't see any punches thrown coming out of clinches."

Walcott, 35-year-old father of six children, is not ready to call it quits.

"I'll fight Charles again next week, if it could be arranged," he insisted. "I'm going to Camden, (N. J.) to rest, Then I'll be ready to fight anybody."

Charles wants to be a fighting champion—"like Joe Louis."

"I want as many fights as I can get," he said. "But now I just want to go home and play some golf for a while. Although I trained at a golf course (Sunset Hills near Momence, Ill.) they wouldn't let me play.

"I want to be a champion like Louis and I want to play golf as good as him."

The highest team total ever registered by school in a Southwest conference track and field meet was 89 3/14 by the University of Texas in 1944.

New York, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts don't. The British Isles don't—they'll wait for the result of the Lee Savold-Bruce Woodcock fight late this summer. And the winner of that one undoubtedly will face Charles. Unless Louis gets to him first.

A certain resort lodge in the Catskills catering to honeymooners has instituted a cooking course for the brides. Probably more marriages have refrigerated over burned toast and an overworked can opener than were ever sabotaged by other causes. Teaching cooking during a honeymoon is psychologically sound, because the bride will never be more anxious to please hubby than while she's still groggy from orange blossoms. If the way to a man's heart is through his stomach, this lodge is on the right track.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

17 Barrels Per Hour At Sidney Wells

May Be Richest Oil Fields Thus Far In Nebraska

SIDNEY, Neb. — (AP) — A test oil well near Gurley, Neb., produced 121 barrels of oil in the first seven hours of pumping tests, the Ohio Oil company has reported. The company said the well produced at a rate of more than 17 barrels an hour. Originally the firm said the rate of flow in a test Tuesday night was 15 barrels an hour.

Results of the pump test were disclosed by R. W. McCanne of Casper, Wyo., official of the Ohio Oil company's geology department.

The rate of flow corresponded to that determined during previous swabbing operations.

Officials were described as elated over the quantity and quality of oil at the well, as well as the shallowness (4,400 feet) of the hole.

The development came after some four weeks of bustling leasing activity which has seen virtually all land within 20 or 30 miles of Sidney placed under lease.

One oil official has said privately current explorations in this area may be opening up the richest oil field so far found in Nebraska.

Second Well Planned.

Meanwhile, drilling was about to get under way on a second well near the first well. The initial well, known as the Mary Egging test well, is 13 miles northeast of Sidney. The second well is on land owned by W. T. Kineval, a banker at West Point, Neb.

The Ohio Oil company, which has done most of the pioneering work in making geophysical tests, holds leases on most of the land in the area.

For several weeks Sidney was the mecca for hard-working leasing agents and oil company representatives. Now that most of the land is under lease, this activity is less apparent.

Optimists Will Hold Mail Vote Auditorium Site

An unexpected small attendance prevented the Lincoln Optimist club from voting on two resolutions regarding the proposed city auditorium at the annual June breakfast Thursday.

Since only 30 members attended the meeting at the Cornhusker hotel, President Harold K. Fuller said a mail vote will be taken, with all ballots being returned before the next meeting. One of the resolutions calls for approval and endorsement by the club of the planned auditorium location, on South Fifteenth, between M and N.

The other is worded in favor of the architectural plans for the building. Fuller said all members will have opportunity to look over the city planning committee's report before voting. Recently, Walter F. Wilson, one of the building's architects, explained the plans and site to the club. Members "seemed satisfied" with his explanation, Fuller added.

2-Day Tentative Training Period Set For Marines

...On July 23-24

Lincoln's marine fighting squadron has set July 23-24 as tentative dates for its first monthly training period after the squadron's commissioning July 1.

Capt. Neal Withrow, squadron commander who spoke Wednesday night at the naval reserve building to ex-servicemen interested in organized reserve duty with the unit, said personnel would be notified by mail of definite training dates.

Preliminary Exams.

The first monthly two-day period will be used for physical examinations, ground tests, and necessary pilot-refresher flying in navy SNJ aircraft, Captain Withrow said.

When Squadron VMF 113 gets fully organized, its pilots will fly at least 100 hours a year. Most of the time will come in F6F "Hellcat" fighters at the naval air station. Two weeks of every year will be spent in advance work at the marine air school at El Toro, Calif.

Maj. E. V. Finn, marine air detachment commander, said the squadron will be limited to 30 pilots, seven ground officers and 110 enlisted men.

Noxious Weed Tags Sent Farm Machine Owners

Tags are being sent by the state department of agriculture direct to each combine and threshing machine owner in Nebraska, calling attention to noxious weed laws, to prevent the spreading of noxious weeds by this type of equipment.

Rufus M. Howard, director of the department, said Thursday that the law requires that the tags be attached to all combines and threshing machines operated in the state.

The present state-wide method of distribution is a result of action by the state weed advisory committee and will reach the operators of threshing equipment before the harvest operations begin.

It is estimated that 25,000 machines are operated in Nebraska. Machines moved in from other states are inspected and tagged at ports of entry, Howard explained.

President Signs Deficiency Bill

...Covering Salaries

WASHINGTON—(AP) — President Truman today signed an $862,563,000 appropriation bill supplying money for thousands of temporarily payless federal employes. It also makes $5,400,000 available for rebuilding or repairing the White House.

Referendum Issues To Hike Taxes

Property Owners Will Make Up Cut In Income--Johnson

Property taxpayers can prepare for increased levies if the referendum petitions on the two highway improvement bills and three others go on the ballot, Phil Johnson, state tax commissioner, predicted Thursday.

It was pointed out that in making appropriations the legislature included in receipts the revenue to be obtained from LB 401 which increases the state share of motor vehicles fees from two and a half to five per cent. This money goes to the general fund to pay administration costs.

Loss to the state, in case the referendum petitions are signed in sufficient number to suspend effective date of the bill, is estimated at $250,000 annually. The new law with the state getting 5 per cent on the increased fees is expected to yield $350,000. Under the present law but $100,000 is obtained by the state.

Short General Fund.

The legislature, at the last session, changed the law so that the fees go to the general fund rather than being earmarked for use of specific divisions. Suspension of the motor vehicle law would short the general fund of the $250,000 and it would be necessary to make it up from property tax funds.

Additional costs of the special issues will reach figures that no one would attempt to estimate. Secretary of State Frank Marsh says he estimates cost of publishing the five special provisions in newspapers will be about $100,000.

The referendum on the two highway bills, which are the longest of the questions, probably will cost $30,000 to $35,000 and may reach $40,000, Marsh said. This cost is met from property tax funds.

No figures have ever been compiled on the costs to the various counties for printing special issues on the ballot, state officials say. They do know that the cost is thousands of dollars in every county and that, with the addition of the special issues to the list of candidates, considerable increase can be expected. Cost of ballots is met from county property tax levies.

"While the truckers and petroleum industries are fighting to save a few dollars in dividends, the small home owner and farm land owner will have to pay the freight in increased taxes merely for the privilege of being spectators," one state official commented.

In addition to the referendums on the highway improvement bills, there are being circulated initiative petitions to change the number of members of the legislature and a referendum on the rent decontrol bill. The legislators also submitted a constitutional amendment changing the term to four years and adjusting salaries.

Students Must Recognize All Types of Work

Deflation Process For Graduates Needed, Says Forum Speaker

"Society as a whole is best served when all men recognize that all services are vital to the well-living of a community," Kenneth Lewis, of the Lincoln Central Labor union said Thursday.

Speaking at a Love Memorial library public forum on the topic, "What does Nebraska Industry and Labor Expect From Universities?" Lewis said "Universities and colleges must have an understanding of work of lesser skills or they will encourage class distinction."

"Frankly," Lewis advised, "make it plain to students that organized labor means people, not an abstract thing."

In answer to the question, "What Does Labor Expect from Universities and Colleges?" Lewis said, "We may naturally assume the necessity of a course in labor-management relations."

Stress Economics.

Continuing, he said this course should especially stress economics as the only basis for a satisfactory agreement in th erelationship. He also recommended interviews by students with participants in a collectitve bargaining siutation.

Representing industry, W. A. Dakan, assistant factory manager of the Nebraska Salesbook company, listed five chief troubles of college graduates in their relationship with industry.

These, he said, are (1) bridging the gap between the theoretical and practical, (2) learning to get along with people, (3) overcoming a desire to start at the top in salary and position, (4) a general feeling of industry of the need for more public speaking courses, and (5) the need of some type of "deflation process' for recent college graduates.

Spotted Wilt Again Strikes Tomato Plants

...In Lincoln Area

Spotted wilt disease—the virus malady that last year took a heavy toll of tomato plants in the Lincoln area—has hit again.

University of Nebraska pathologists and horticulturists say there is little that can be done now to stop the disease. It is carried by tiny thrips (type of insect).

The virus overwinters in several kinds of weeds, including bindweed and certain ornamental plants.

Leaf Spot Distinguished.

Plant pathologists recommend the diseased plants be pulled out of the ground and burned. The disease spreads rapidly and there's little hope for the stricken plant.

Extension Plant Pathologist Arden F. Sherf says it's not too late to start new transplants as substitutes in the blank places.

Dr. Sherf cautions against confusing the spotted wilt with tomato leaf spot, which is a fungus disease. Leaf spot, he says, can be controlled easily with a copper spray. In the case of leaf spot there are definite brown circles in the lower leaves. The plant is not stunted.

Symptoms of spotted wilt include a definite bronzing of the tomato plant's top leaves and the plant is always stunted. If the disease is found when the fruit is turning a ripening color, Sherf says, the tomato will have definite red circles.

Horticulturist H. O. Werner says spraying with rotenone at five-day intervals "might" bring control, and there's "a chance" that pulling up diseased plants might prevent the healthy ones from contracting the disease.

Research at the university is continuing in an effort to find resistant varieties of tomatoes to the spotted wilt disease.

Stocks Make Modest Gain

NEW YORK—(AP)—The stock market gingerly stepped up the price ladder today.

Final prices showed gains of fractions to around a point, with most issues at or near the best levels of the day.

More business was done for a while when prices made their best showing but the day's sales were far from impressive. Turnover was at the rate of around 700,000 shares, which would compare with 550,000 yesterday, one of the smallest totals in recent years.

Howells Man Loses Arm After Accident

COLUMBUS, Neb.—(AP)— An automobile accident has cost a 49-year-old Howells, Neb., man his left arm.

Everett W. Nelson's arm was amputated at St. Mary's hospital here after his car and another had sideswiped. No one else was hurt.

Wheat, Corn Prices Down

CHICAGO—(AP)—A little increase in hedging pressure served to send wheat lower on the board of trade today. The bread cereal was down more than a cent most of the session, showing little rallying power.

Corn and oats also sank, largest losses being recorded by the July contracts. Deferred months lost only minor fractions. Soybeans and lard suffered fairly wide declines in line with another drop in cottonseed oil at New York.

Wheat closed 1⅞ to 1⅝ cents lower, July $1.95⅞@⅞, corn was ⅝ to ¾ cent lower, July 89¼@90c, rays was 1½ to 2 cents lower and July $1.40½@¾, soybeans were 2 to 3 cents lower, July $2.31@2.31¼, and lard was 23 to 35 cents a hundred pounds lower, July $11.02.

Engine Is Blamed For Plane Crash

27 Of 43 Persons Aboard Are Injured

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—(INS)—Engine failure was blamed today for the crash of an American Airlines plane in which 27 persons were injured.

The ship was en route from Dallas to New York when the smashup occurred yesterday just after the take-off at the Memphis municipal airport. The ship tumbled groundward two and a half miles from the airport.

The plane's first officer, Norman Lundeen of Memphis, said the right motor cut out a few seconds after it was airborne. There were 43 persons aboard, including the crew.

The plane's captain, Ed Hatch, also of Memphis, was at the controls. Lundeen and Hatch crawled through the cockpit windows.

Fire broke out in the left engine of the twin-engined Convair after the crash. An army fire fighting unit stationed at the airport reached the scene in time to extinguish the flames before they destroyed the airliner.

Yvonne Hanavan, the flight stewardess, of Memphis, was the last person to leave the transport despite the threat of the engine fire.

Blacktop Between Ansley, Loup City Plea Of Delegations

Business men from Ansley and Loup City today urged the highway department to blacktop 18 miles of hilly gravel road on highway 92 between the two towns.

They explained to State Engineer F. H. Klietsch that the gravel washes badly because the road is so hilly, so it becomes muddy quicker than an ordinary gravel road.

The present road was built several years ago.

Klietsch told the group that the road is down for blacktopping in the department's over-all program, but he could not say when it could be taken up.

Senators Harry Burnham of Sargent and W. J. Williams of Ravenna accompanied the delegation.

Berg Asks Approval Early Bond Payment

A resolution prepared by City Finance Director Theo Berg, when approved by the city council, will call in $17,800 of a 1937 bond issue of $178,000. The bonds, now held in the water and light department sinking fund, were originally issued for special assessment improvements.

The bond issue was for ten years, one-tenth of which was to come due annually. In addition to the call portion, the city is paying $17,800 falling due this year, of a total of $35,600. Next year the city will follow the same procedure, wiping out the remainder of the bonds.

The call bonds have been absorbed in order to get the entire obligation out of the way before the $300,000 airport bond issue starts coming due in March, 1951. The airport issue was for the purpose of buying land for army occupation.

3 Killed, One Injured When Runway Collapses

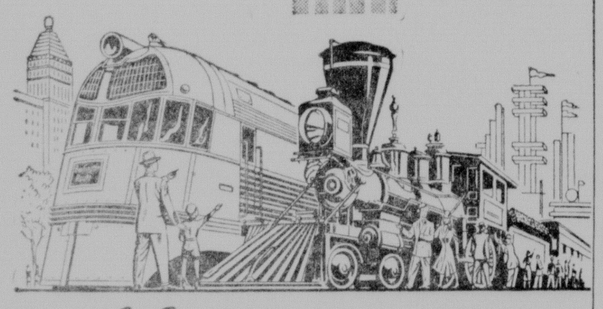

BURLINGTON, Colo.—(INS)—Dick Hart, 26, of Ohio, was under emergency treatment today at Kit Carson County hospital for injuries received in an accident in which three men plunged 140 feet to their death when a runway between two grain elevators collapsed.

Jerry Glenn, 22, of New York City; Fernando Martinez, 24, and Henry Gonzales, both of Granada Colo., died yesterday of injuries received in the plunge.
